TROJANS ON THE TOWN

Tech Trojans are everywhere, at the lakefront, at the fast food spots, at work throughout the city, at play, at homecoming, at the dances, at the games — everywhere in our town.

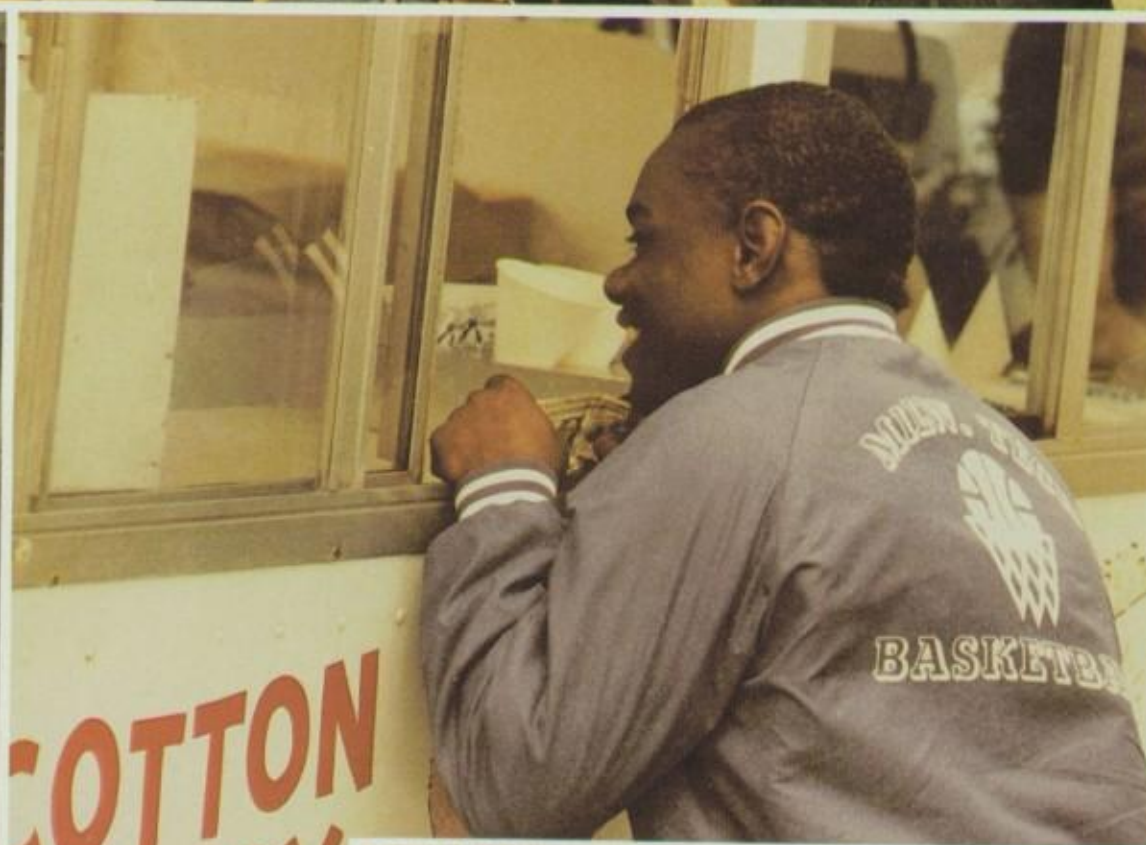

And, no matter where they go, Trojans seem to turn drab greys into brilliant color with action and excitement. Look around and you'll see "Trojans on the Town".

TROJANS ON THE TOWN

The town is Milwaukee. And summertime in Milwaukee means ethnic festivals at the lakefront. Tech Trojans sampled ethnic foods, walked, watched, danced, and listened to music ranging from ethnic to punk rock.

With school openings far from their thoughts, Trojans wandered through the summerfest grounds enjoying themselves while "on the town".

TROJANS DINING OUT

Summer ends. School opens. Tech Trojans are forever hungry. Summer-time memories still linger and there may be some discussion of the merits of a particular ethnic food. But, during a regular school day, each Trojan seeks out a favorite spot to enjoy lunch "on the town".

TROJANS ON THE TOWN

After returning to Tech in September, catching some rays, listening to tunes, practicing for band, waiting for gym classes to start, participating in early fall sports, or even studying become part of the regular routine. Everyone is looking forward to football and the first big social event of the year.

TROJANS AT HOMECOMING

Homecoming! Organized by Mr. McCallum and the student council, spirit week began with dress down day and ended with the traditional purple and white day. More than one purple face was seen in the hallways on Friday.

Saturday at 11:30 a.m. the annual Homecoming parade traveled to South Stadium. The parade featured several unusual floats all built and designed to urge our football team to victory. Although the weather was cold, team spirit and enthusiasm kept Trojans warm as the parade moved "on the town".

TROJANS AT HOMECOMING

Homecoming victory! All the work and enthusiasm of spirit week was justified in our 26 to 3 victory over South. Tech's tough defense and explosive offense put the victorious Trojans in a party mood for the annual Homecoming dance. King Benny Kerr and Queen Melinda Petzel reigned over a well attended dance which featured D.J., Too Tough Tony.

TROJANS AT PROM

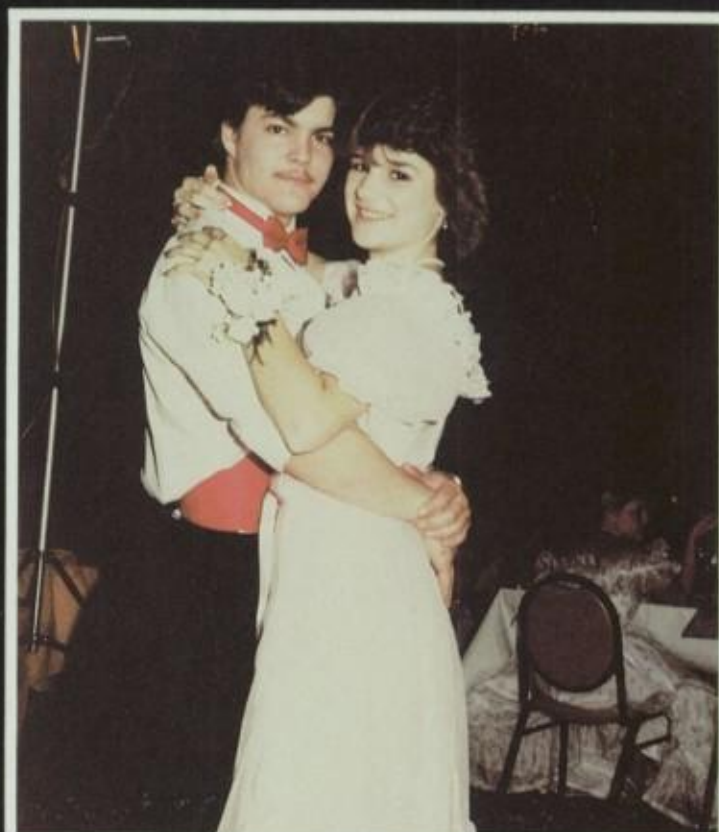

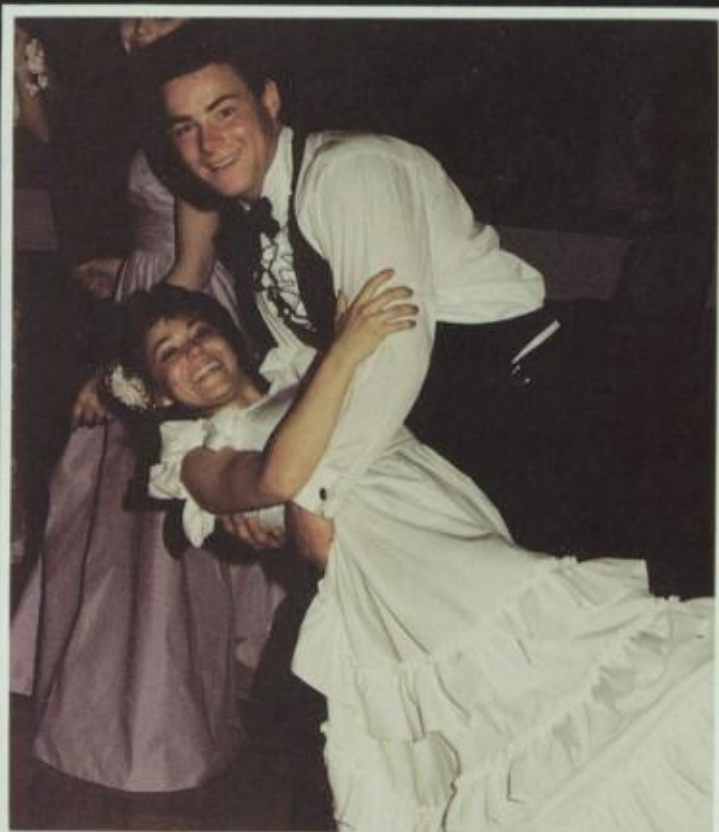

However the social highlight for every senior is the prom. The prom, 1984, really went "on the town" as Tech Trojans celebrated in the Crystal Ballroom of the Marc Plaza. Music was provided by "Mainstream", a local group playing to the theme, "Tonight, I Celebrate My Love".

Every nominee for prom court is selected by an organization or homeroom nominating a senior to run for prom court. After everyone is entered, a list comes to junior and senior homerooms so they can vote for 8 candidates. After the court is selected, the couples attending prom vote for king and queen.

The winners were Eric Jordan and Clare Look, as king and queen. The court included Kevin Cox, Michele Premetz, Chris Melleski, Chuck Kaehler, Scott La fleur, and JoAnn Sulewski.

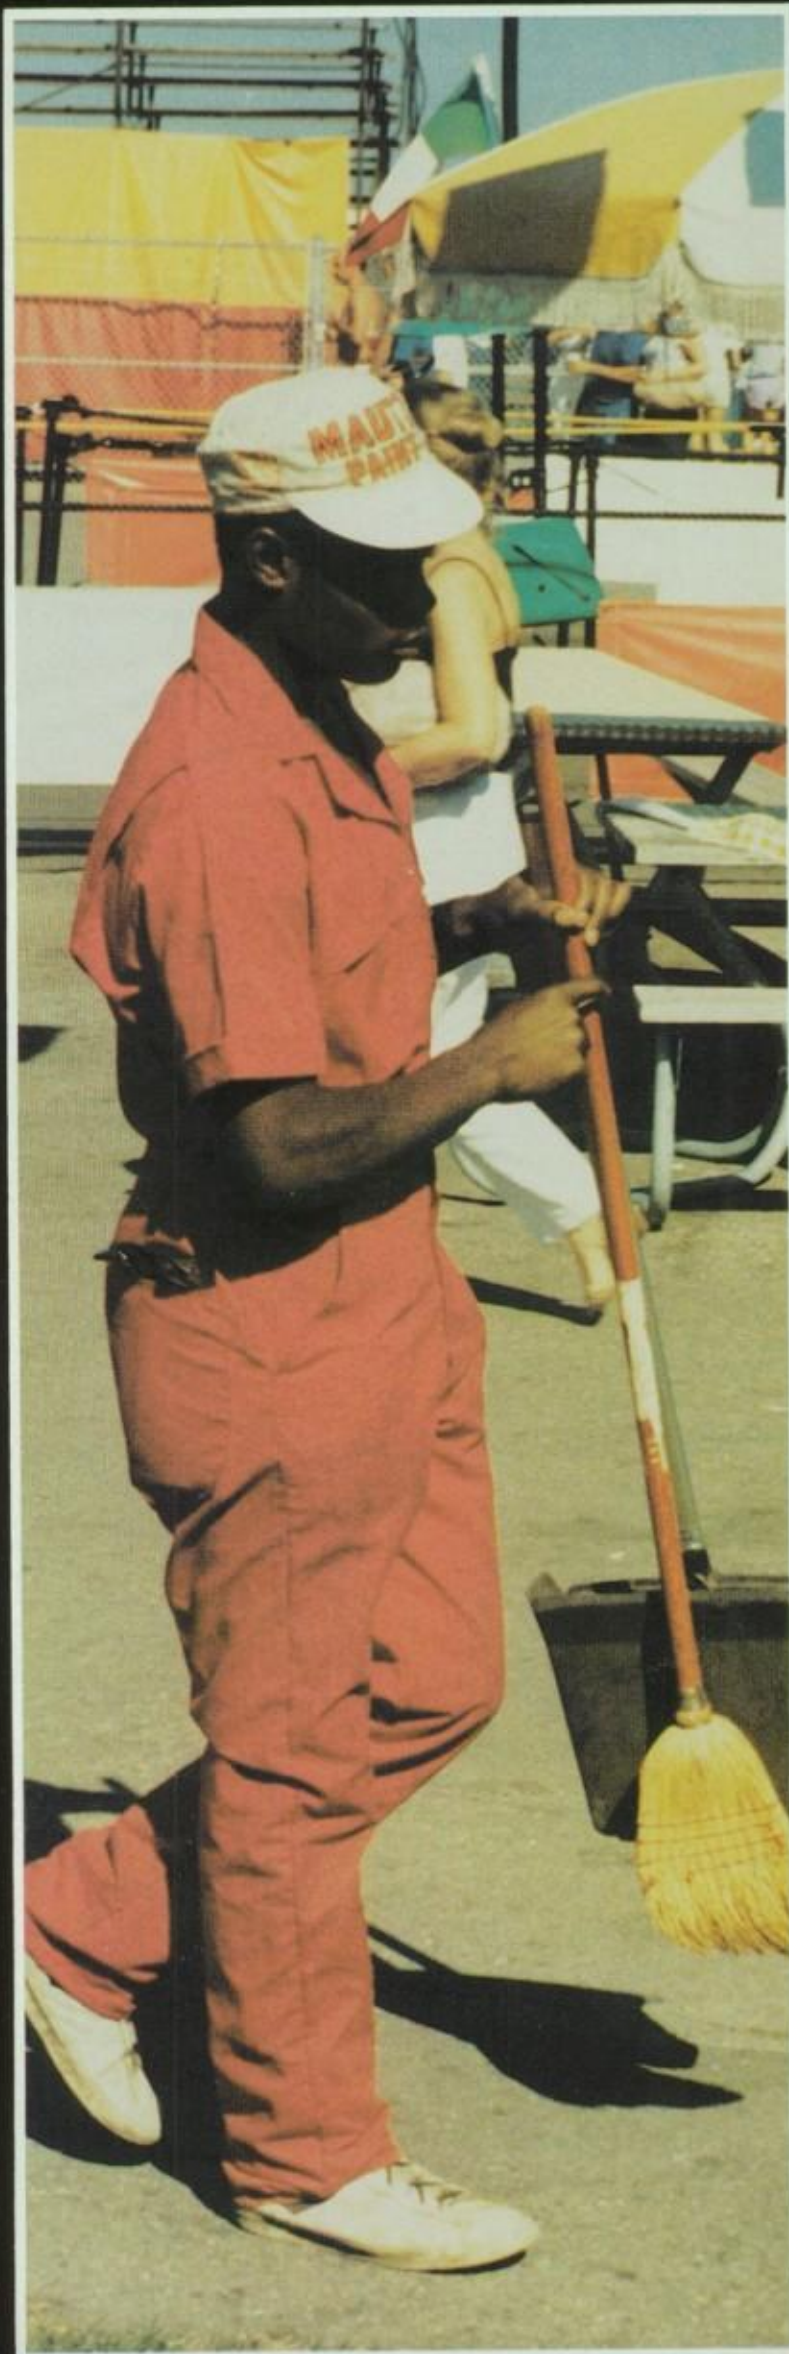

And so it goes on, another successful prom, another school memory. Every couple at the prom will always remember this event and the good time they had. This night will be long from forgotten as our Trojans once again went "on the town".

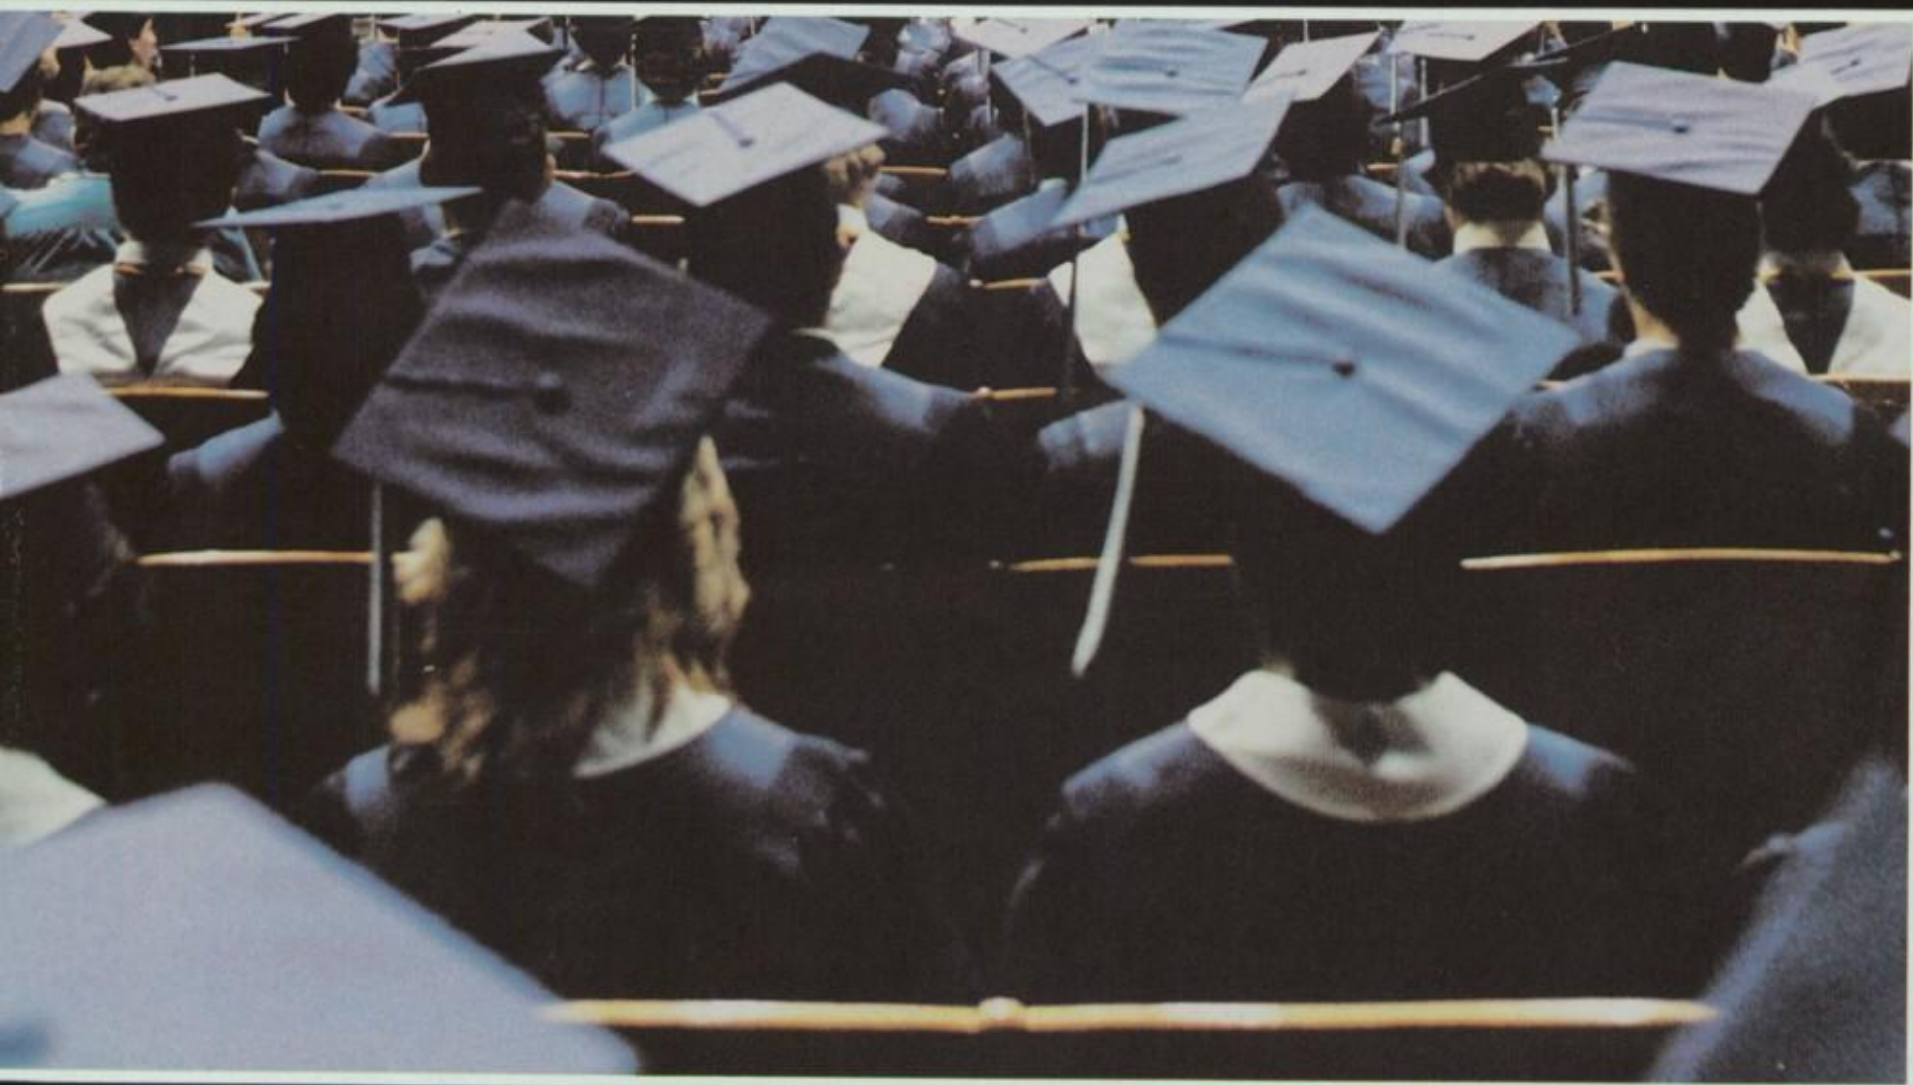

TROJANS ON THE TOWN

After the summer jobs, after the summer fun, after the parties, the dances, the crazy costumes; after school lunches, fast food lunches, bag lunches; after the cheering, after the tremendous Tech enthusiasm, after all the great times "on the town", there is one last important event — graduation.

CLASS OF '85

Each graduating class is marked by at least one outstanding achievement or characteristic. One year it may be championships in athletics, another hard working service groups, or yet another possibly high academic achievement. This year all those elements are present plus the one ingredient that sets us apart — Spirit! Spirit at the games, spirit at school and super spirit at our social gatherings. We were rowdy, we danced, and we partied. So, we challenge future classes to match the spirit of '85.

On The Town

Playing throughout the Milwaukee area, the Minx band, which includes Tech students Joe Hite, Dan Wojnar and Paul Singer, entertained the large crowd at the Halloween dance. Mixing vocals and instrumentals, Minx was a clear favorite for every Trojan.

Appearances at Thomas More, Franklin, and Dominican high schools clearly indicates that the Trojan staffed band is on the way, "on the town".

On The Town

with the class of '85. Alive and well, squalling with energy, bursting with enthusiasm, and happy to be here, the seniors of the class of 1985 have dramatically demonstrated their leadership in providing the kick in school spirit at this year's football games.

While homecoming brought out some ambitious costumes and facial decorations to add to the festivities, the season, in general, was highlighted by the consistent enthusiasm of the ever-present seniors who traveled throughout the Milwaukee area to support our victorious Trojans.

According to the group, the spirit of '85 will be even more visible in the basketball season as the 1985 senior class continues its' journey "on the town".

Trojan Talent

What part can a Cabinet Shop student take in producing the Artisan? Make a wooden cover? Perhaps carve his initials in your yearbook? Would you believe as an artist? Time to change your mind when you learn of multi-talented Mark Zube's contribution to the 1985 Artisan.

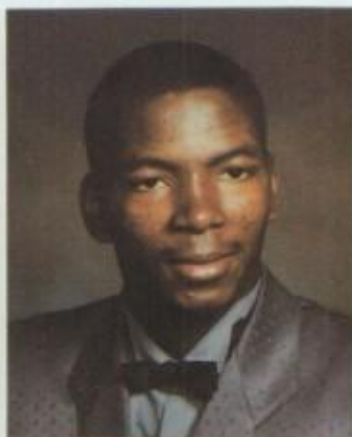

After talking with Mr. Pagel, Cabinet Shop instructor and also yearbook advisor, Mark asked if he could draw some pictures for the yearbook. Undaunted by Mr. Pagel's sarcastic response, "Yes, We can use anyone with talent." Mark submitted a sample of his work which proved that Mark, indeed, had talent.

Still doubtful? Check out the art work on pages 32, 40, and the Senior Index.

So, you out there, try joining one of the many Tech organizations that are just waiting for your skills and talents. Who knows, you might get your picture in next year's Artisan.

Senior Class Officers

John Roth's speaking ability earned enough votes to edge opponents, Andrea Galioto and Erik Riser, in a tight race for senior class president.

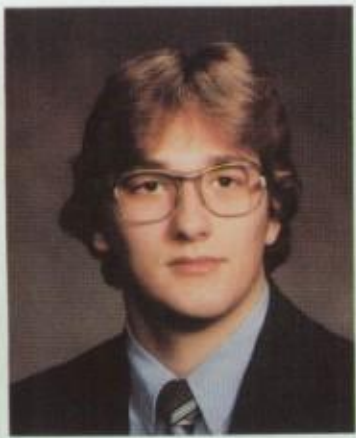

Not showing the slightest bit of stage fright in front of the large senior electorate, Daphane Wilson triumphed over candidates, Amy Richardson and Barb Moran.

Once again, voice projection and ability to speak to large groups prevailed as Sharon Smith won the office of secretary-treasurer over Lisa Caballero and Susan Kurtz.

Backed by an excellent senior council, the Senior Class Officers worked hard to bring the class together. Dances, fund raising activities, class trips and social gatherings "on the town", indicate the spirit and enthusiasm that prevailed in the 1985 senior class.

You Know You're A Senior When . . .

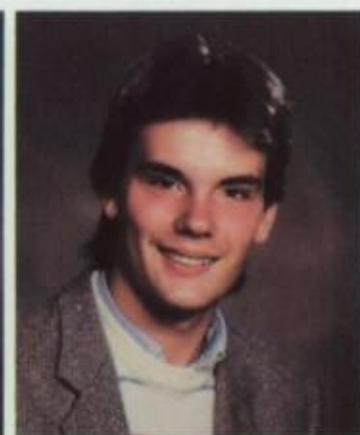

- you find this irresistable urge to carry shaving cream, squirtguns, and smelly perfume with you down the hallways. — getting to school at 7:40 a.m. is too early
- you start your six-week term paper the night before it's due.
- you worry more about what you're going to do for lunch than the test in front of you.
- your notion of parties or social gatherings on the weekend expands to include Mon., Tues., . . .
- you find the Freshies looking up to you, trying to be your "pal".
- you find the freshies without guts avoiding you.
- you get out of being tardy because you stopped by one of your many "buddy" teachers who were nice enough to give you a pass and not a DT.
- you drive to school while the underclass takes the bus.
- you find that your eighth hour release is the best class of the day — along with lunch.
- you talk about the famous "Pink Hallways" and no one knows what you're talking about.
- your feet finally touch the ground while sitting on top of the desk.
- you know and chat with almost everyone you pass in the halls.
- colleges won't leave you alone.

Dear Freshies,

Looking back on our four years at Tech, we have seen our Trojans accomplish a lot of important things on the town and throughout the State of Wisconsin. Successful in Milwaukee, our football team participated in the State football playoffs, the baseball team has twice been in the State championship game, and our basketball team has been State Champions in 1979 and 1983.

Keeping pace with our teams, the cheerleaders have developed into a spirited well organized group who provide leadership at all the sports events.

Emerging from nothing into winners at State competitions, the Tech Pom Pon squad is proving its stature at a championship school. The debate team continues to compete favorably with the best in Wisconsin while the Jazz Ensemble ranks with any in the area. Each year the Milwaukee Journal features the talents of Tech's successful artists and each year over 300 Trojans join the Tech weightroom to "pump iron."

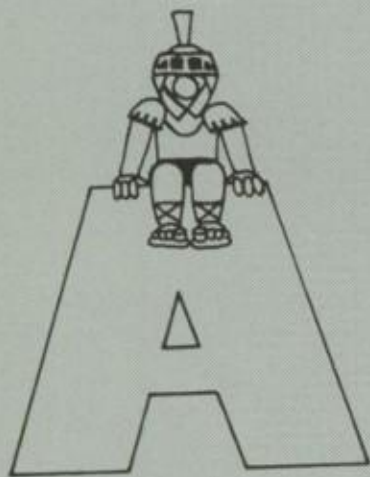

But, most importantly, the classrooms and shops of Tech are filled with students who want to learn and carry on the proud traditions of our school.

We're leaving Tech and leaving part of us here as well. We hope you will enjoy our school and participate in all it has to offer—take care of our school, our memories, our accomplishments.

Sincerely,

The Class of '85.

Girls' Track — 1984

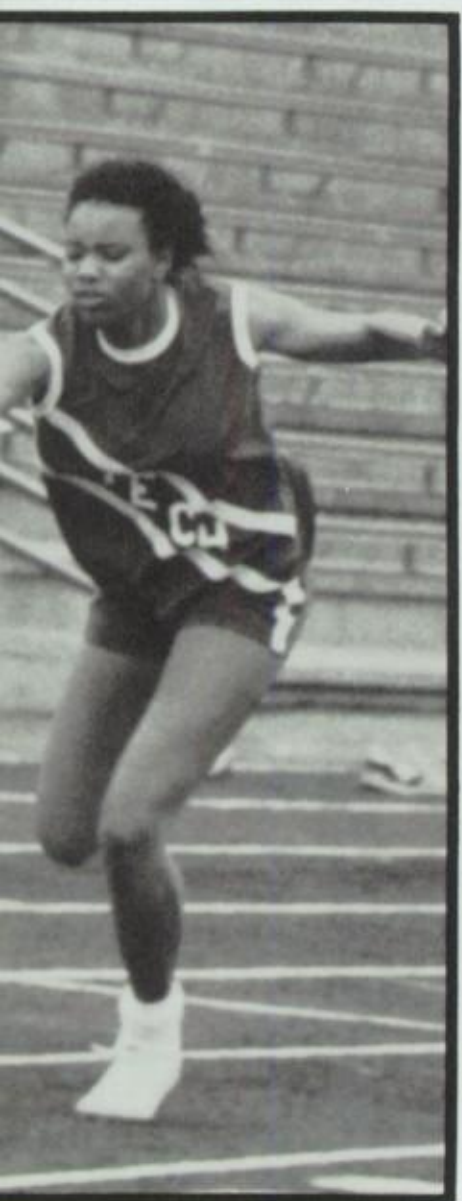

The Girls' Track team had a very successful season taking 1st place in the City Indoor Meet, a 4th place at the Sussex Hamilton Relays, a 5th place at the City Relays and a 3rd in the Conference Meet. Tech finished 2nd in the W.I.A.A. regionals and 7th in the state sectionals.

The season was highlighted by the performance of Clare Look who qualified for the State meet in the triple jump and the long jump.

Clare placed 3rd in the triple jump at the State meet and captured the State championship in the long jump. Clare finished her high school track career by receiving honorable mention in the National High School Track awards.

Trina Coleman and Clare Look were selected as most valuable athletes for the 1984 Girls' Track team.

Boys Track - 1984

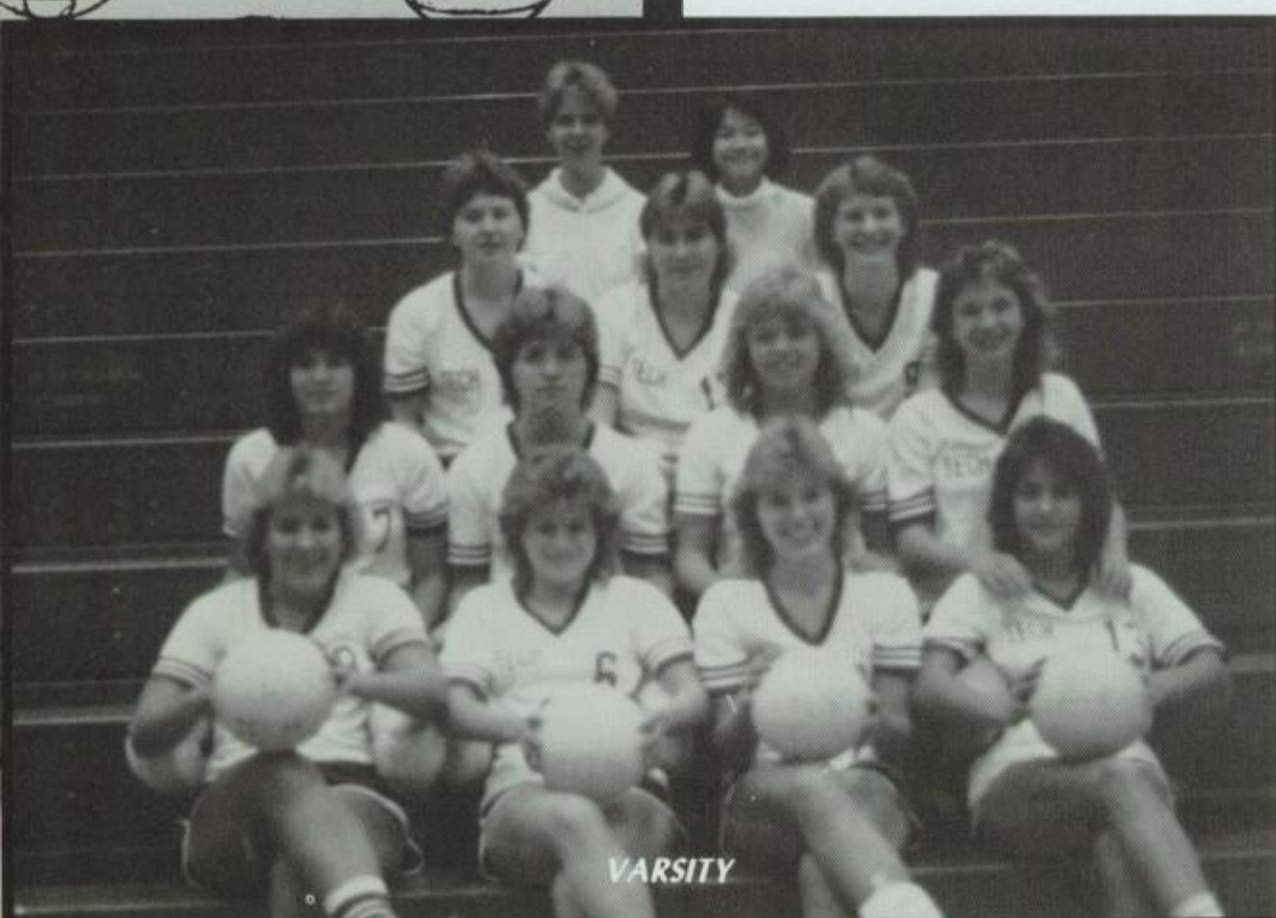

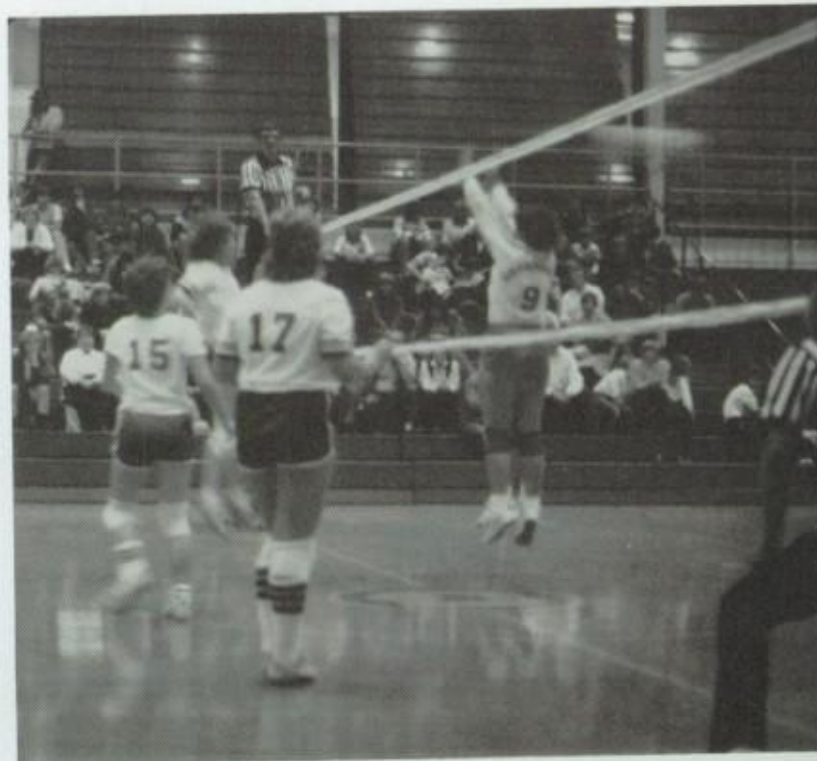

The '84 track season had many fine individual performances. For some of the athletes the season started early. For instance in September Mark Megna and Ron Kohlmann started training in the Ironmine for the shotput and discus competition.

Some of the teams best running was in Madison during the W/TFA indoor and the State outdoor meets. During the W/TFA our mile relay team consisting of Chuck Davis, Cedric Torrence, Ted Mitchell and Yong Kang took a 6th place. For the distance team Richard Schuman took a 8th place out of 112 runners. At the State meet Mark Megna qualified for the discus competition and finished a remarkable 6th with a throw of 148' 6". Yong Kang was also the pride of the team finishing 4th in the State and winning the teams M.V.P. awards.

The 1984 girls' softball team enjoyed an excellent season in the new conference. Three returning seniors led the Lady Trojans to victory. Paulette Lee's enthusiasm and JoAnn Sulewski experience aided the team to a 2nd place finish in the City Conference. Coach Leland, in his fourth year, is looking forward to the return of five juniors, five sophomores and one freshman.

The season was highlighted by an extra inning victory over a favored Custer team. The one run victory inspired the team to its' strong finish and everyone is looking forward to next season.

Girl's Tennis, A Smash?

The 1984 girls' tennis team has come long way in the past few years. The Lady Trojans have had thrilling victories and agonizing defeats. Under the leadership of the new coach, Mr. James Campion, the girls displayed just what they were capable of. Their first opponent, Hamilton, proved to be the victims of the tough Tech tradition. With the gratifying win over a tough team, there came a depressing loss to the Bay View Wildcats.

When the girls seemed down or depressed, Coach Campion would give them a boost of confidence and a Coke. The team ended their season with 4 team wins and 3 team losses, with a 4th place in the city tournament held at Vick and Washington Parks.

The tough Lady Trojans had a great attitude throughout the entire season. The seniors of the team wish Coach Campion the best of luck next year and thanks for an exciting and memorable year.

MAC Relays

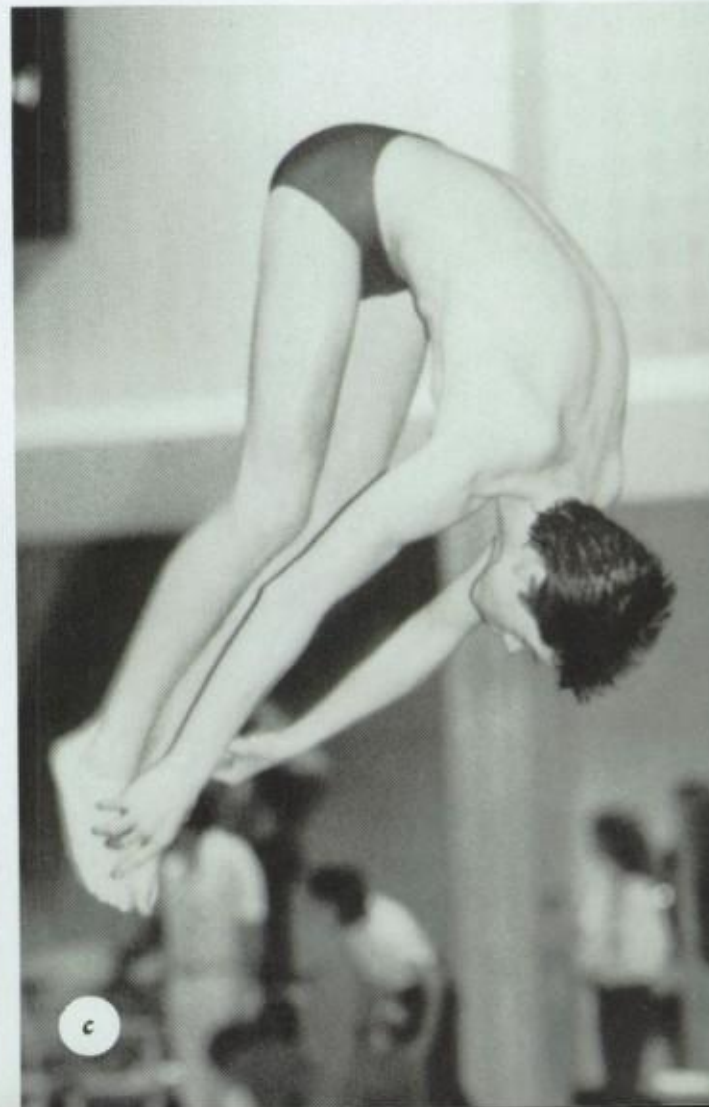

In one of the most exciting swim meets in recent years, Tom Woyte, Todd Michaels, Mike Carter, and Jeff Krueger led the team to victory in the MAC relays in the South Division pool. Coming from behind, the team forged ahead to edge out another championship for Tech.

- a. Mike Carter's quick start shows why Tech won this medley.
- b. Waiting to dive, Tim Deines is ready for the breaststroke medley.
- c. Steve Plumb's form in the jackknife carries the Tech divers to an excellent third place.
- d. Jeff Krueger and Brendan Bednar wait for their event.
- e. Checking team progress, Tom Woyte and Mark Ciepluch walk around the pool.
- f. Forging a strong lead, Chris Camp carries Tech to another victory.
- g. Steve Plumb steadies himself on the board.
- h. Chris Camp, with swim cap, plunges in to the South pool at the MAC relays.

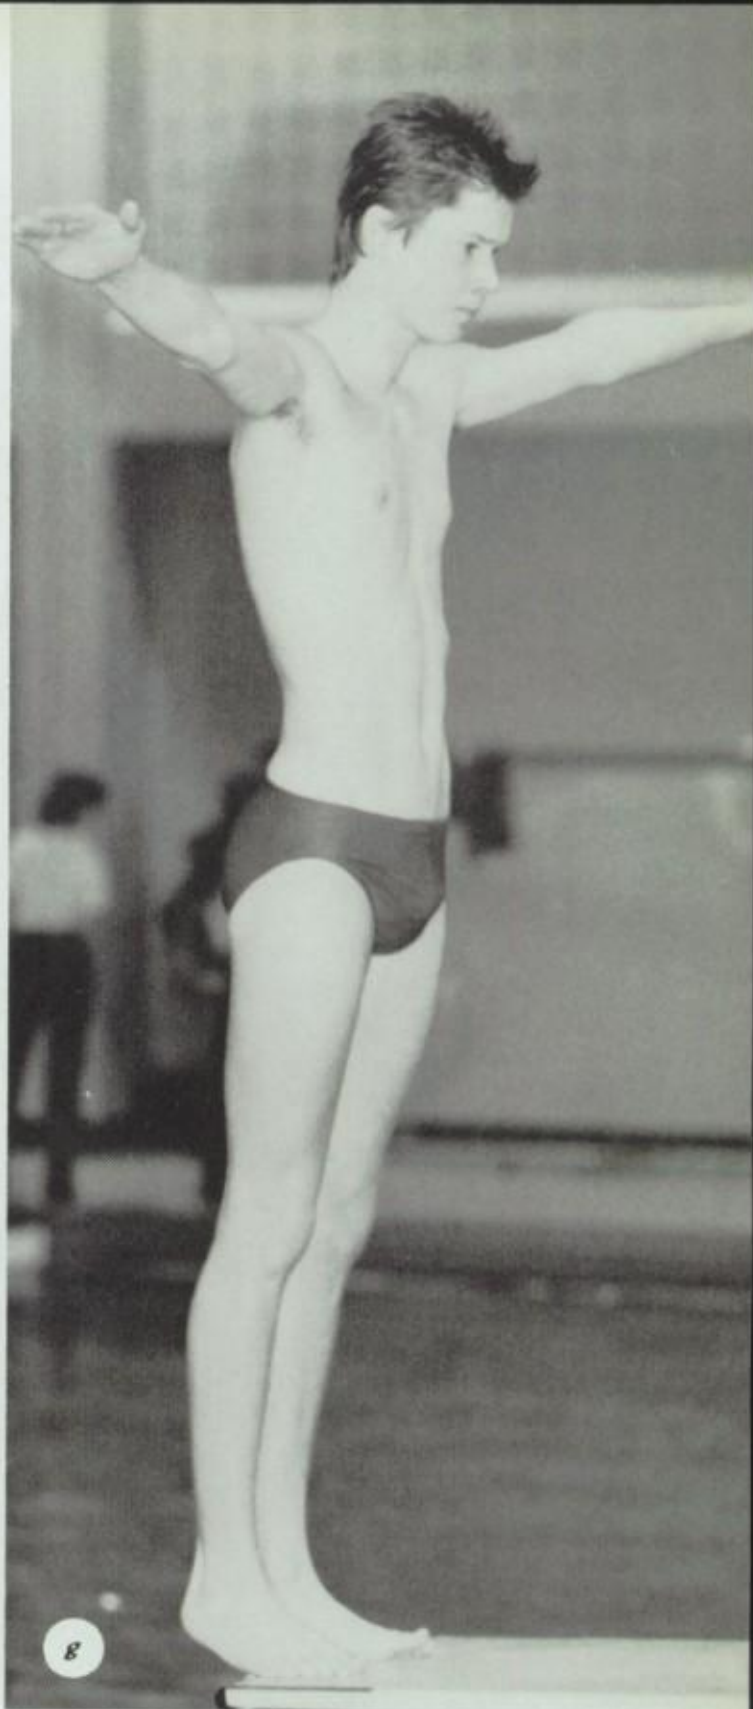

MAC Champions

One week later, Tech repeated their successful performance in South's pool. Tech's swim team finished ahead of the strong Kenosha teams to capture the MAC Championship.

Carter, Falkowski, Garrod and Woyte paced the victory with a first in the 200 Yard Medley Relay. Michael's first in the 100 Yard Butterfly and Carter's victory in the 100 Yard Backstroke highlighted Tech's championship in the MAC.

Over Shadowed

With boys' sports dominating the school, city, conference, and even the state scene, girls' sports at Tech has had to take a back seat. Girls' athletics has come a long way. Gradually, the girls are becoming more widely recognized and many of the teams have come out of the shadows and proven that they too can be a threatening power. One reason for the slow progress is the fact that Tech doesn't have extensive athletic facilities — a small athletic field, a small gym, and many teams try to use this limited space at the same time. Many Tech teams must even travel to other schools to use facilities. Girls' sports are also limited by a cramped, small locker room.

According to Kris Stika, "The girls' sports program, at present, does not attract girls to attend Tech for athletics as the boys' programs do."

As Lisa Borowicz looks at it, "Considering the amount of time girls' sports has had to establish itself at Tech, we've come a long way, but there's still a lot of room for improvement."

Cathy Brahm

In the fall of 1984, two juniors were chosen as "most valuable player" in their particular sport. Being awarded the title of MVP is quite an accomplishment for anyone, and receiving it as a junior is even more worthy of recognition. The two athletes who achieved such an honor are Catherine Brahm and Kristin Stika.

Cathy Brahm was chosen as MVP in volleyball, a sport she has been active in for eight years. She has been on varsity each of the three years she has been at Tech and has already been chosen as captain for the '85 season. Being chosen MVP by her coach, Ms. B. Wilson, was an "unexpected pleasure" for Cathy. As she says, "I personally thought I had accomplished a lot on the team the past three years, but I never thought I would be recognized with such an honor. In addition to this, Cathy was also honored with a position on the All-Conference volleyball team, which she calls a "thrill of a lifetime". Cathy is a chemistry student and plans on going to college at UW-Milwaukee to study either nursing or psychotherapy.

Kris Stika was chosen MVP for girls' swim by her coaches Curt Winterfelt and Pam Whitnall. Kris has been swimming since a young age but never swam competitively on a team until her sophomore year at Tech. She has been on varsity each of the two years. Says Kris, "I was really excited when I found out I had been chosen MVP. Near the end of the season, I became bored with the repetition of practice, and receiving that title made all of the work worthwhile. I owe a lot of credit to my teammates." Like Cathy, Kris is a chemistry student and is planning on going to college but is not yet certain where she would like to go. Kris is interested in the fields of chemistry and sports medicine.

On The Town

The breaking up of "Ma Bell" doesn't stop Tech students from going on the town via telephone. Calling friends, making dates, visiting, gossiping, sharing homework, irritating parents, and tying up the telephone lines, all take up time and money.

It has been rumored that: If we took all of the money spent for phone bills of Tech students, we may have enough to build a new fieldhouse.

If all of the time spent on the phone was used to study, we'd all be 4.0 students.

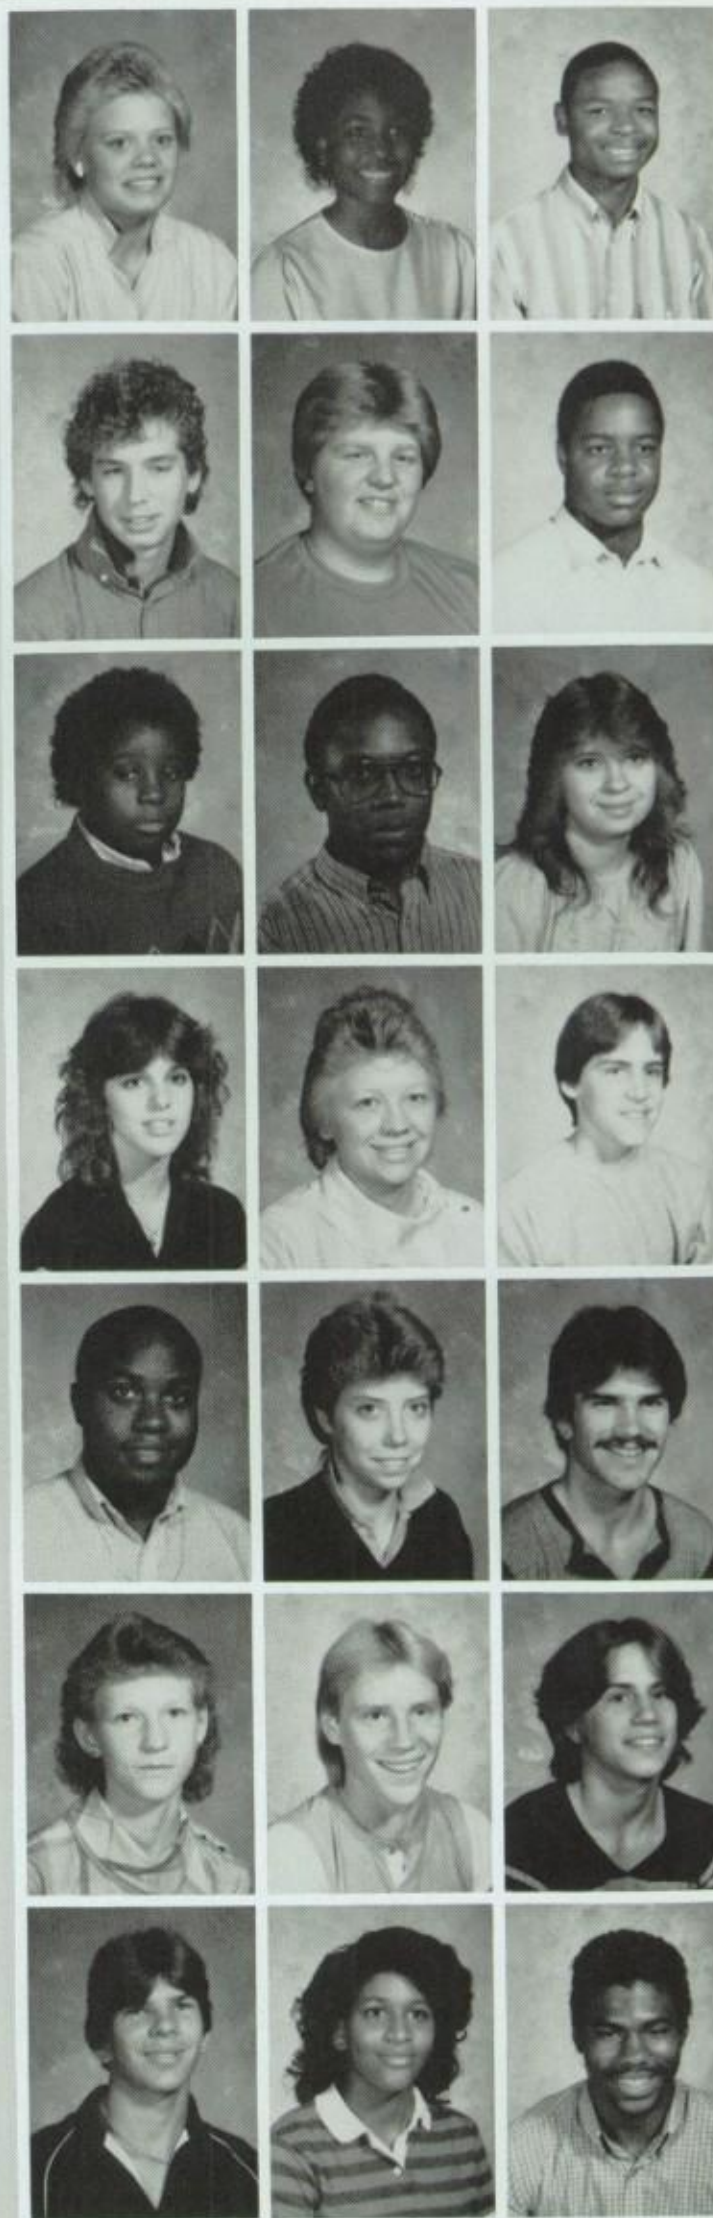

If all of the energy spent talking on the phone was harnessed, we could heat 500 homes in Milwaukee for the month of January.

Junior Matter

One of the required courses for graduation from Tech is physics. Most students choose to take physics as part of their junior studies. Have you ever stopped to think about why they take it as a junior? (After all, it does sound like a senior course doesn't it?) Well, maybe it's due to the fact that if they do indeed receive a "U" in the class, (a nice way of saying flunk), the student has one more chance to pass the course, as a senior. What is it about physics that gives people chills? Just the definition of physics is enough to frighten most students: "The science that deals with those phenomena of inanimate matter involving no changes in chemical composition; more specifically, the science of matter and motion." Who in their right mind can get excited over that statement?

Why is physics such a dreaded class? Maybe it's because physics offers us something really different, unlike any other course we've taken in school. It's a subject we've never really considered before. How often do you wake up in the middle of the night suddenly realizing that you don't even know what the coefficient of friction is for the family car? Do you wonder how many newtons of force you use to brush your teeth in the morning? While eating your cornflakes, does your mind drift off, curious as to what the trajectory of a pellet fired from your BB gun would be? Probably not, but physics must be important, or they wouldn't require us to take it. Right . . . ?

What's it like to sit on the bench watching your teammates play? "I was depressed that I couldn't play", was how Preston Pointer stated it. Every year, it seems a few Tech athletes get injured, whether in a game, at practice, or outside on the town. An athlete not only suffers physically, but also emotionally. They must deal with "sitting out" a couple days of practice, or a couple games, or even the rest of the season. Two outstanding junior athletes are among those who know what it's like, having been injured in the '84 season.

One of them is Tammy Vitrano. Tammy is a member of the girls' varsity swim team. She swam an outstanding first half of the season, getting some of her best times and pushing the rest of the team to do better. Part-way through the season however, Tammy was sidelined with a painful shoulder injury known as bursitis. She watched as the team went on to the conference championships and state sectionals- without her.

"I was depressed I couldn't play"

Another valuable athlete who was injured is Preston Pointer, a wide receiver on the varsity football team. After getting off to a great start, Preston hurt his knee and was sidelined for a few games. Wanting to play and yet being forced to watch was, for Preston, a very trying time. "It felt like I'd never play. I was afraid I'd have to wait till next season." Preston also added, "It still hurt when the team lost, even though I wasn't playing."

Stress Test

Many juniors take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, better known as the PSAT. Most of the students who take the test, plan on going to college. This test is considered a practice test for the Scholastic Aptitude Test which can be taken in the junior or senior year. The SAT is used as a tool by colleges to place and program students for classes. Many colleges request and even require that incoming students take the SAT. Scoring high on the SAT can give a student a big advantage when applying to college.

Taking the PSAT, however, can cause some anxiety in the student.

Worrying about doing well, worrying about studying properly for the test, worrying about finishing the test in time, can cause a great deal of nervousness in the students. And after the test, waiting for the results creates some anxious moments for those who take the PSAT.

Have you ever felt like you were just part of the pack? Not an individual anymore? Well, a few juniors have broken out of the huddle.

Junior

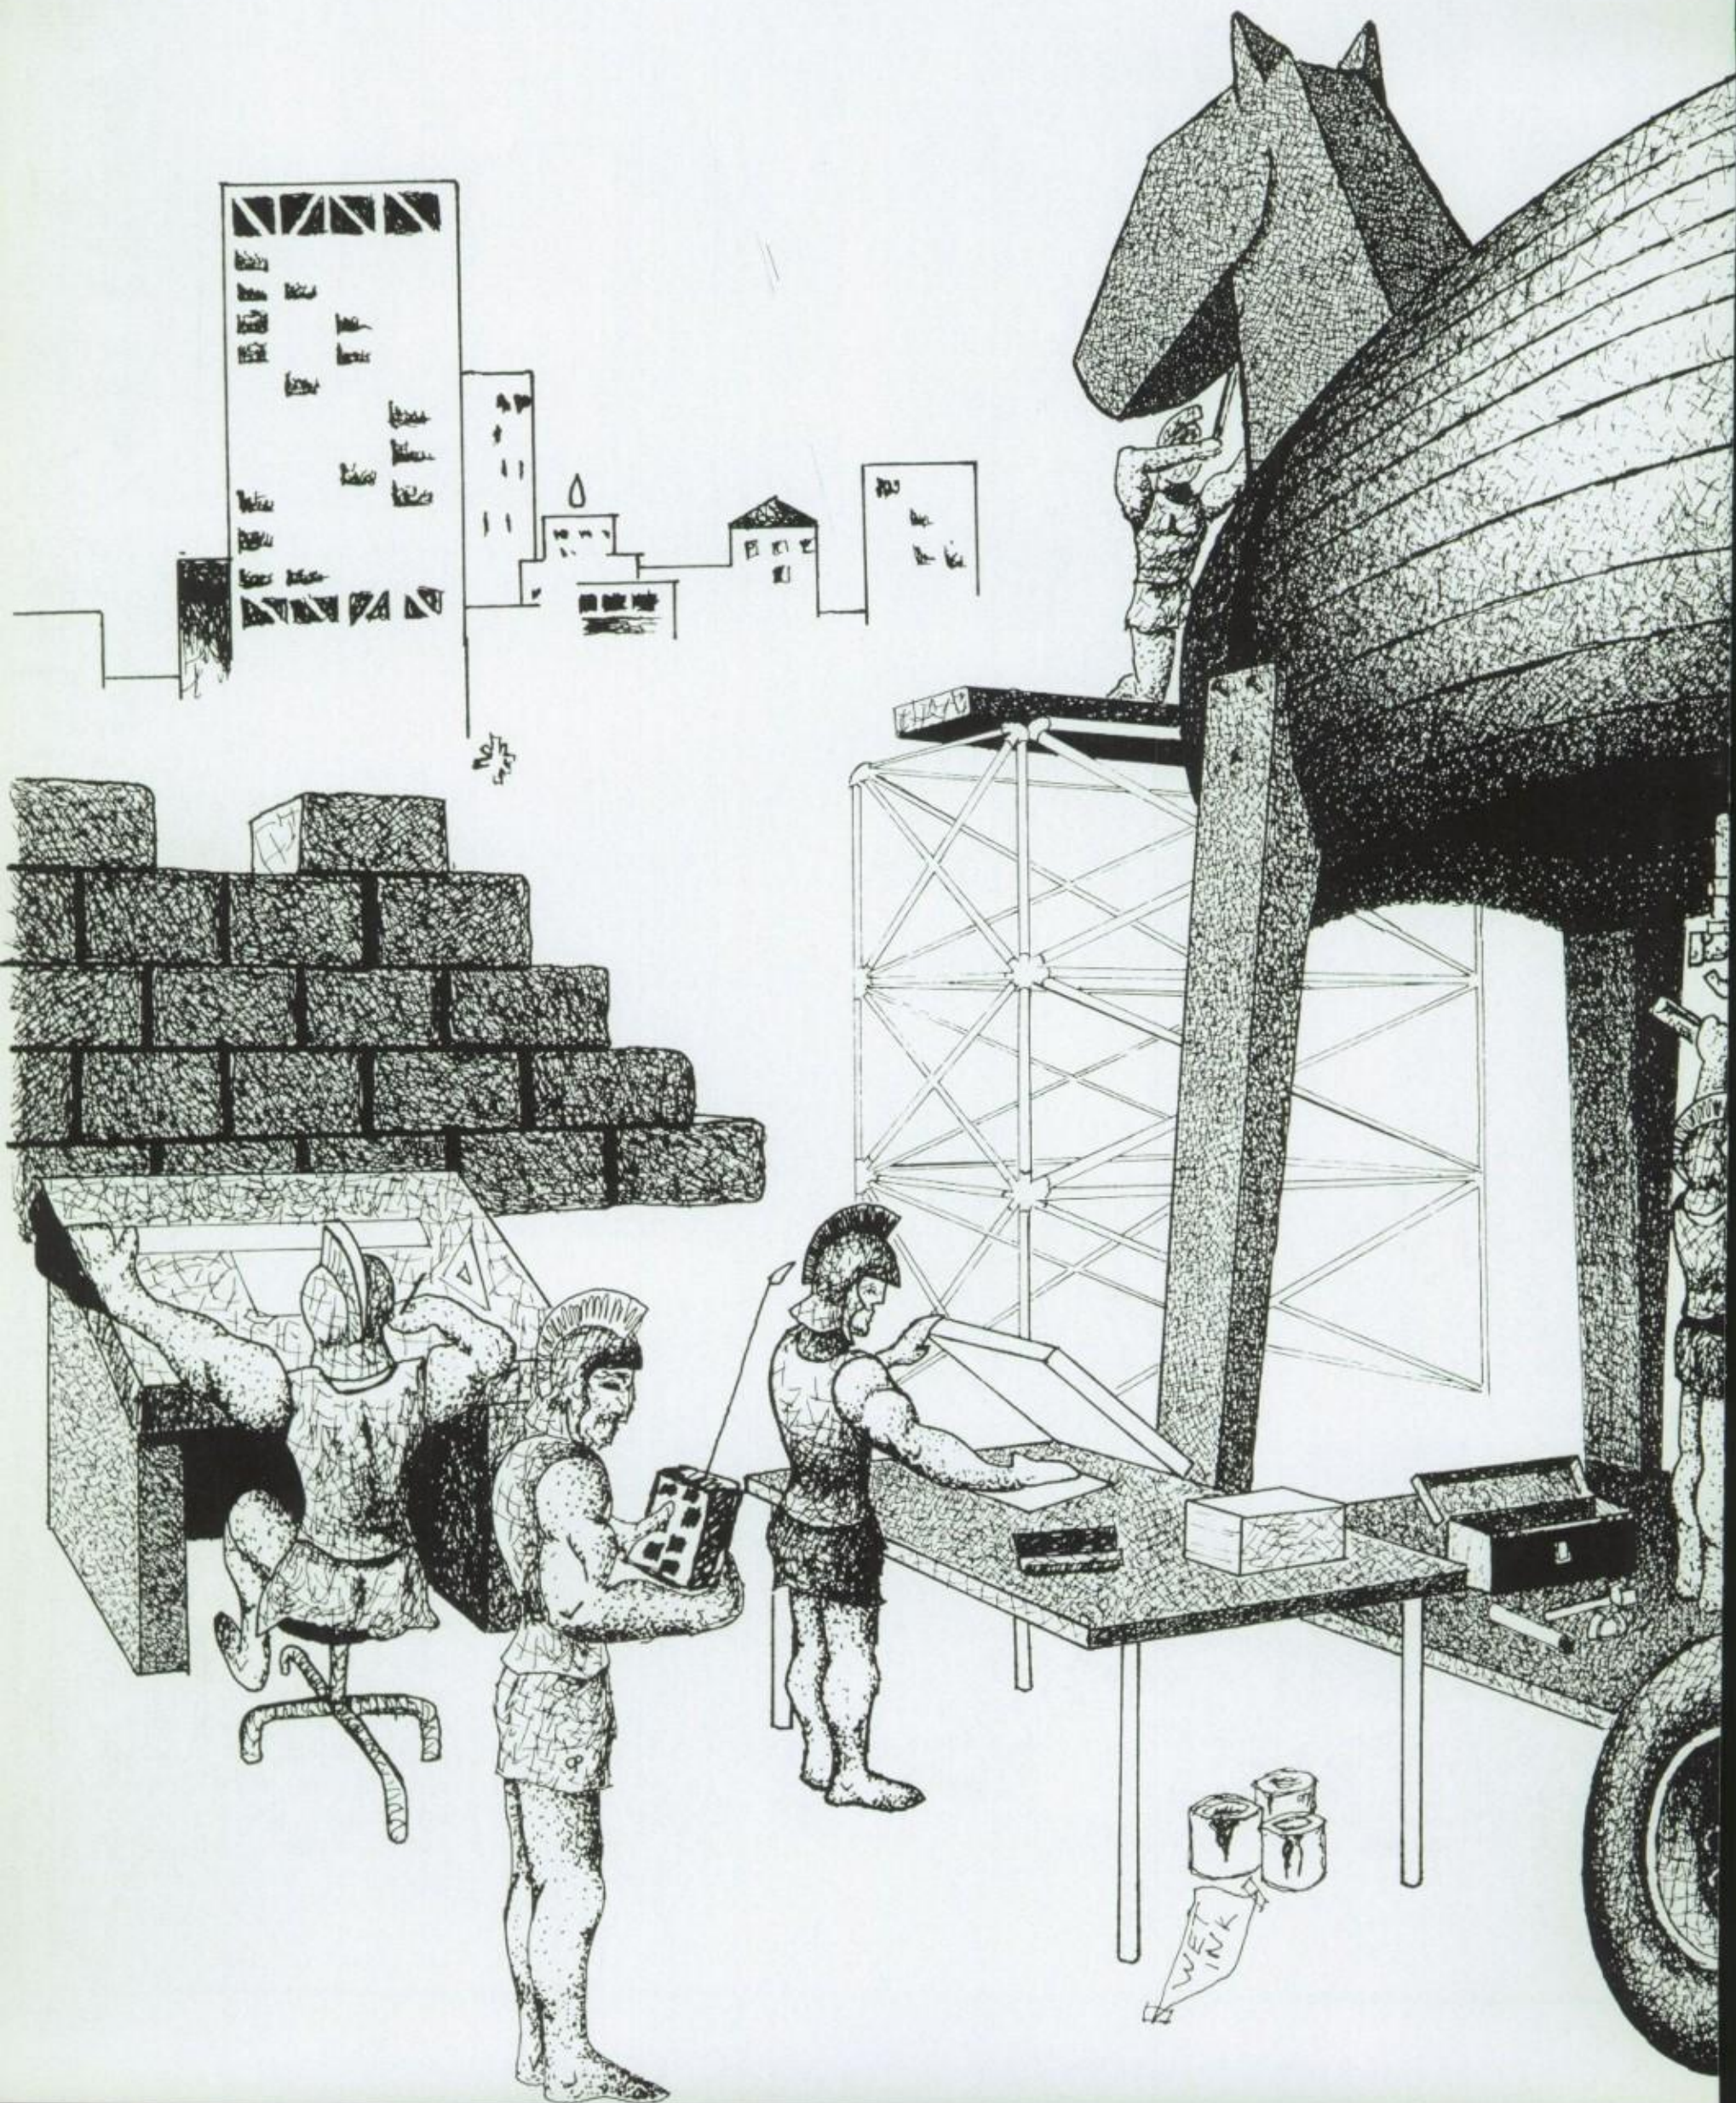

Dale Palkowski, a varsity football player since his sophomore year, has been successful on and off the field. Dale has had no trouble maintaining his academic excellence while being involved in extra-curricular activities. This tight end and 3.6 chemistry student is a good example of a successful student-athlete.

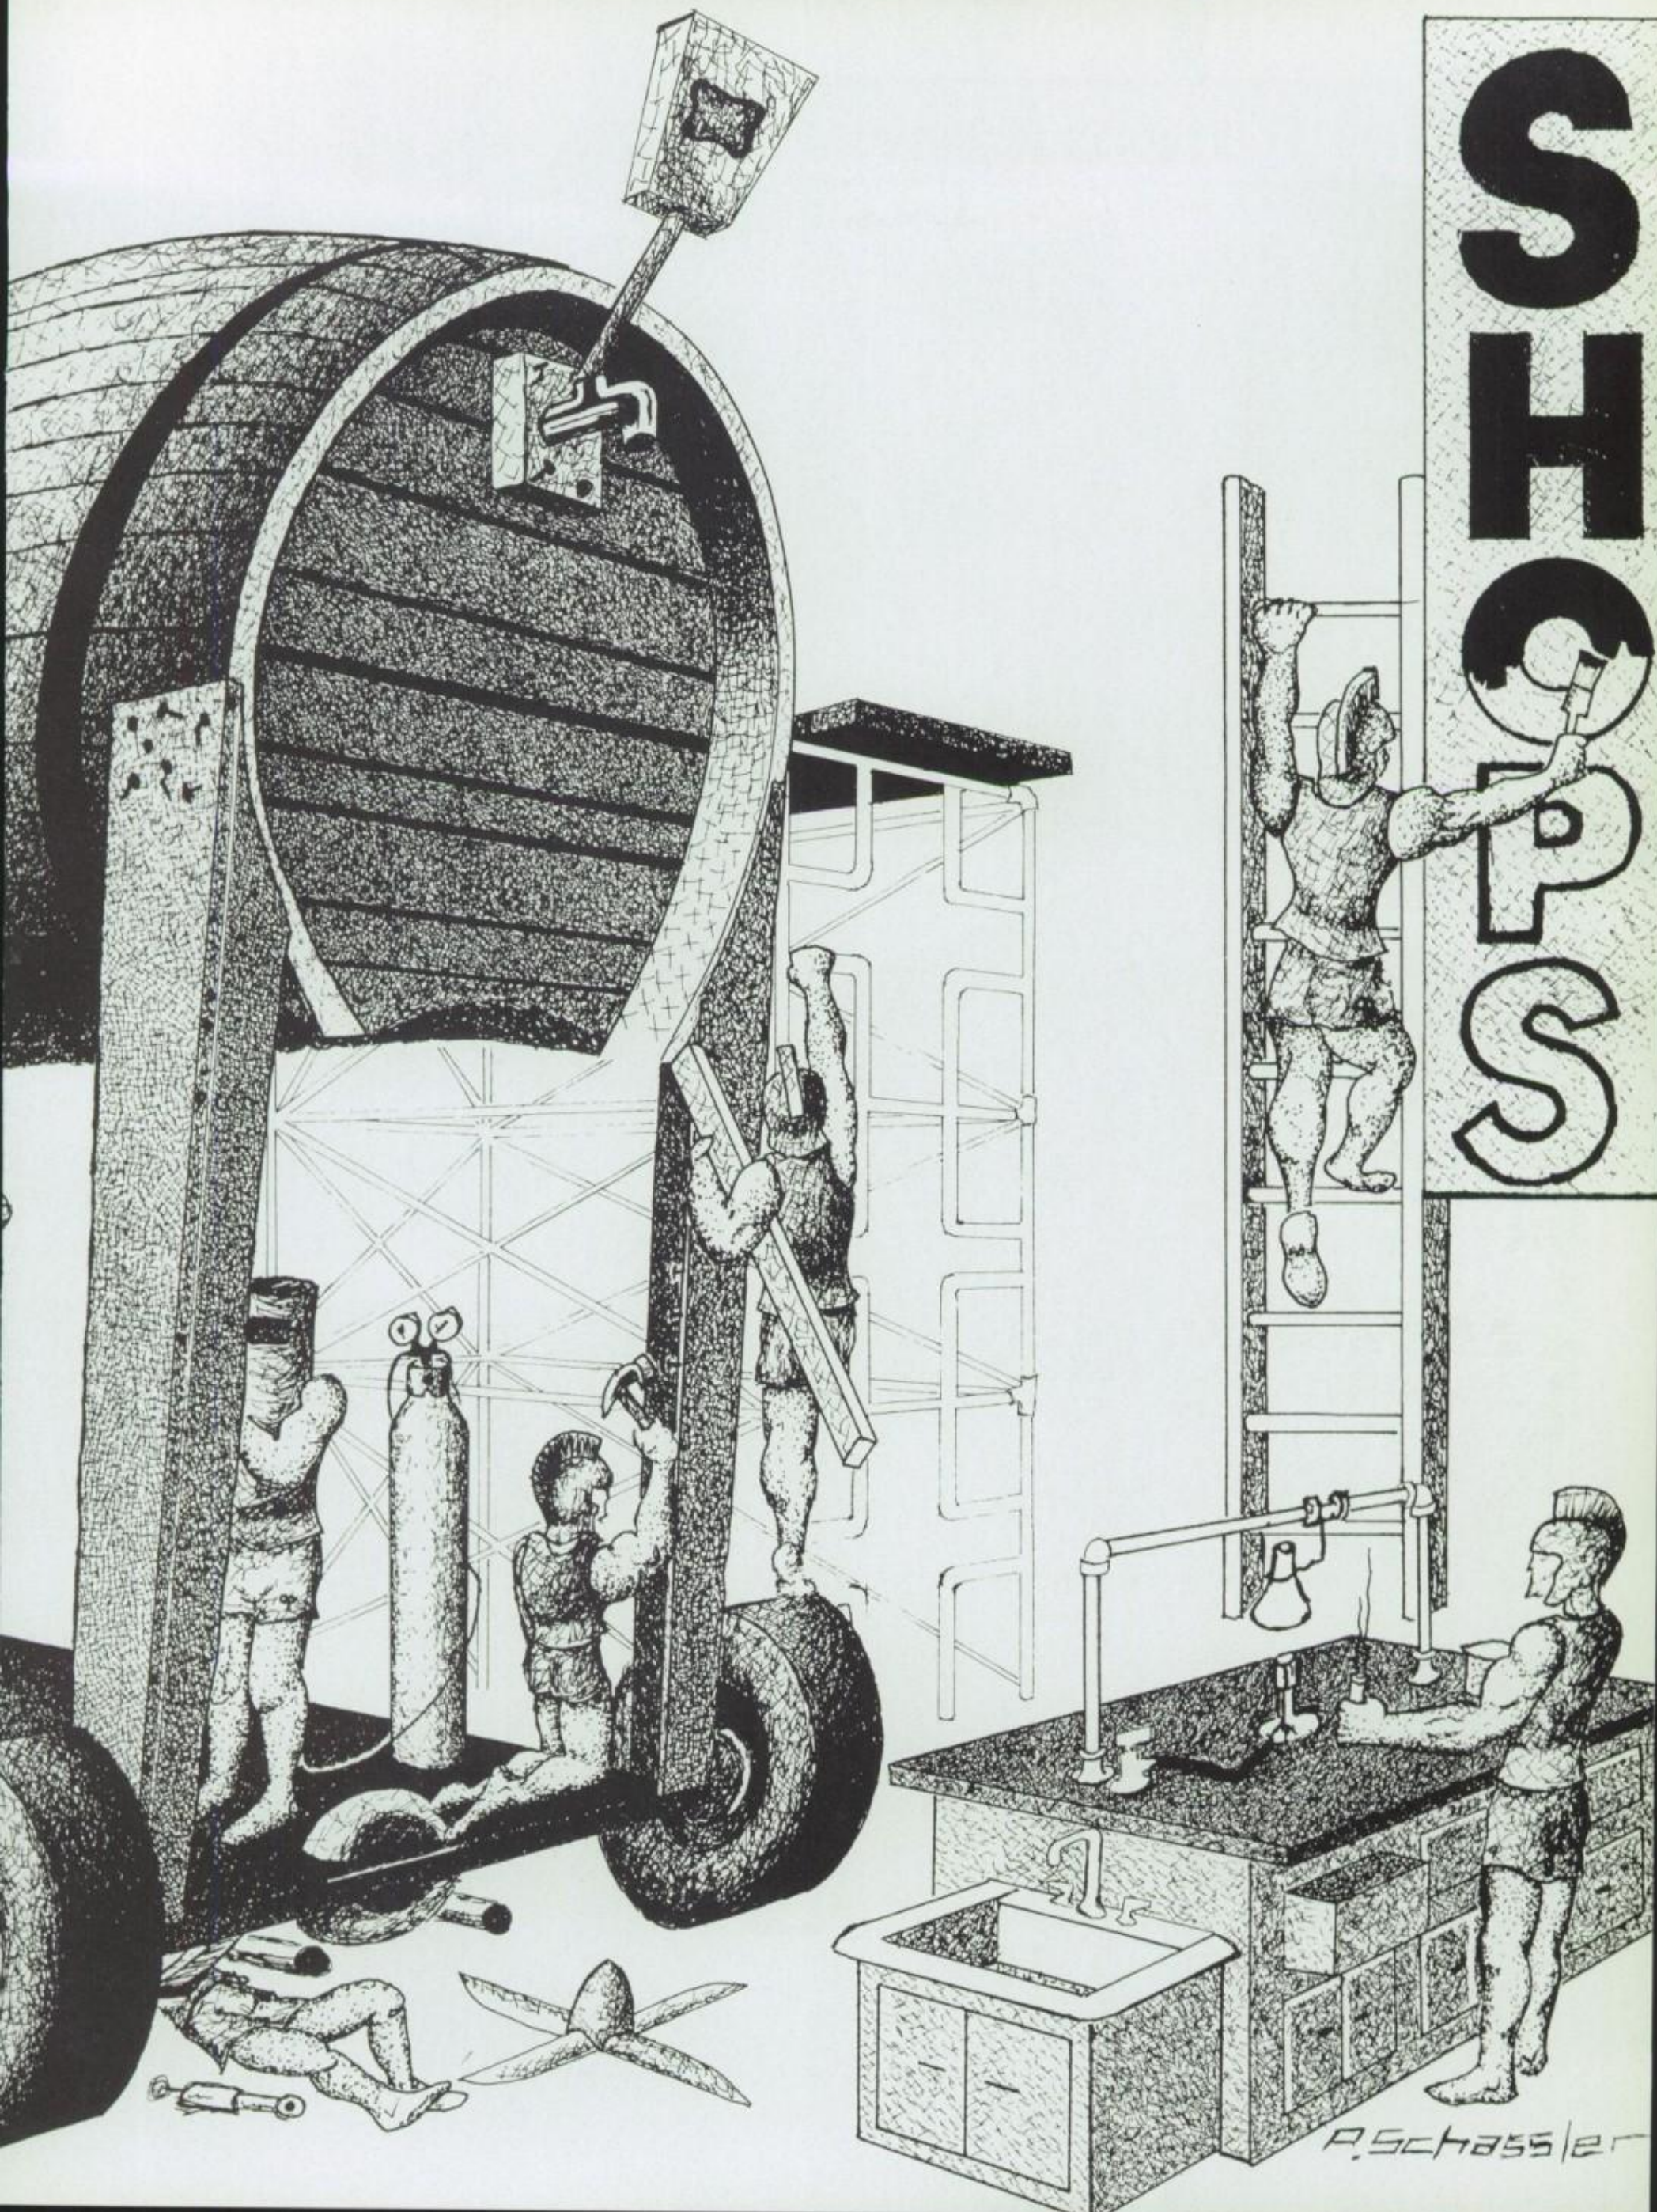

Achievement

Another outstanding junior is Brendan Bednar, a center on varsity football. Brendan has also been on varsity for two years. His abilities, however, are not only seen on the field. He has also attained high academic achievements. Proof of this is Brendan's current grade point average of 3.7 and his cumulative average of 3.5.

Yes, that's right! In the plumbing department it is possible for plumbing shop graduates to return to Tech for another year of shop training. This program, known as Plumbing-Post Grad, allows students to remain at Tech for a fifth year. When hired as apprentice plumbers, the additional year is subtracted from the apprenticeship training.

The Making Of A Sophomore

Sophomores are a hard group to decipher. We are just out of "freshie" category but not yet upperclassmen. Unfortunately, we are caught in the middle. As freshmen, we were looked down upon by everyone. We were insulted, ridiculed, and "freshied" with shaving cream and perfume by ludicrous upperclassmen. But now it's our turn!

Many sophomores think they are 'pretty cool' but juniors and seniors would argue that fact. To them we are inferior beings. We will never be as good as they are --- but we shall see!

As sophomores, we now have the courage to express ourselves openly. We are no longer afraid to speak our minds. Both academically and socially, we begin to broaden ourselves. The shops we have chosen could prove to be successes or failures. They are what we make it.

We sophomores also have a crazy nature about us. Most of us are very wild and have tremendous school spirit! What other class than sophomores would even attempt to dye their hair, faces, and BODIES purple?

Yes, sophomores are hard to decipher. Very hard. Few people can successfully guess what's running through a sophomore's busy mind. Could it be that we are waiting for 1987? It could be. Or is it a little chant that we sophomores say:

'84 is long gone

'85 will carry on

'86 thinks they're cool

but '87 will ALWAYS rule!!!

Hmmmm, maybe!

Sophomore Stars

Chris Gutierrez is a good example of an all-around athlete. In his freshman year he was out for three sports: football, wrestling, and track. Football was a good experience for Chris. In sophomore year, he made Varsity and started every game. Wrestling is another success story Chris has been on Varsity wrestling for two years now. Last year he won a first place medal in the city finals. Track is another one of Chris's specialties. His event is pole vaulting in which he placed first in one of Tech's many track meets. He was in both J.V. and Varsity meets.

As a freshman, Kim Krueger was the only gymnast Tech had. On her own, she went to Hamilton to practice her tumbling routines on the uneven bars, the vault, and other apparatus. Last year, Kim came in 6th in the city for uneven bars and 5th in the vault. Kim is also the captain for this year's newly formed gymnastic team. Kim hopes the team will do well in the city finals. Kim also participates in other sports too. Last year she was a sprint runner in track and this year went out for volleyball.

Sophomore Stars . . .

Mike Welk is another example of a good sportsman. In his freshman year, Mike went out for football and baseball. As starting quarterback for the freshmen football team, he led them to five wins, no losses, and one tie. The freshmen team were city champs. Mike's other sport, baseball, is another story of success. He was placed on J.V., instead of the freshmen team, and was positioned at shortstop. Mike also had the opportunity go to Wausau with Varsity baseball as they battled for the state penant. Although Mike didn't play very much at the state finals, he gained valuable knowledge that will help him in the future as a player. When Mike was asked about his feeling of Varsity baseball and the state finals he answered "It was different. The players were much better and had more responsibility." Mike's ambition is to one day take state. Mike is also academically gifted carrying a 4.000 cumulative grade point average.

Class Of 87

At the beginning of freshmen year students enter high school with the feeling of insecurity and uncertainty. Faced with a challenge, they must learn to survive their first year at high school. But, before they know it the year is over. The summer has approached and is happily received. Several months of summer rest prepares students for the return to school in September. They now know what is expected of them and are ready to meet those expectations. And, just like the year before — it ends.

The class of '87 has just entered that phase. Their sophomore year has finished and their summer is waiting. They will hit the town and make the most of their vacation. And next year — who knows what will happen?

TEACHERS ON THE TOWN

Tech Classic

While at Tech, the lovely Mrs. Haywood teaches chorus, orchestra, and humanities of the arts. When away from Tech, Mrs. Haywood enjoys participating in many community art programs. Her beautiful voice has been heard at the Skylight Theatre, Music Under the Stars concerts, and as a soloist for her church.

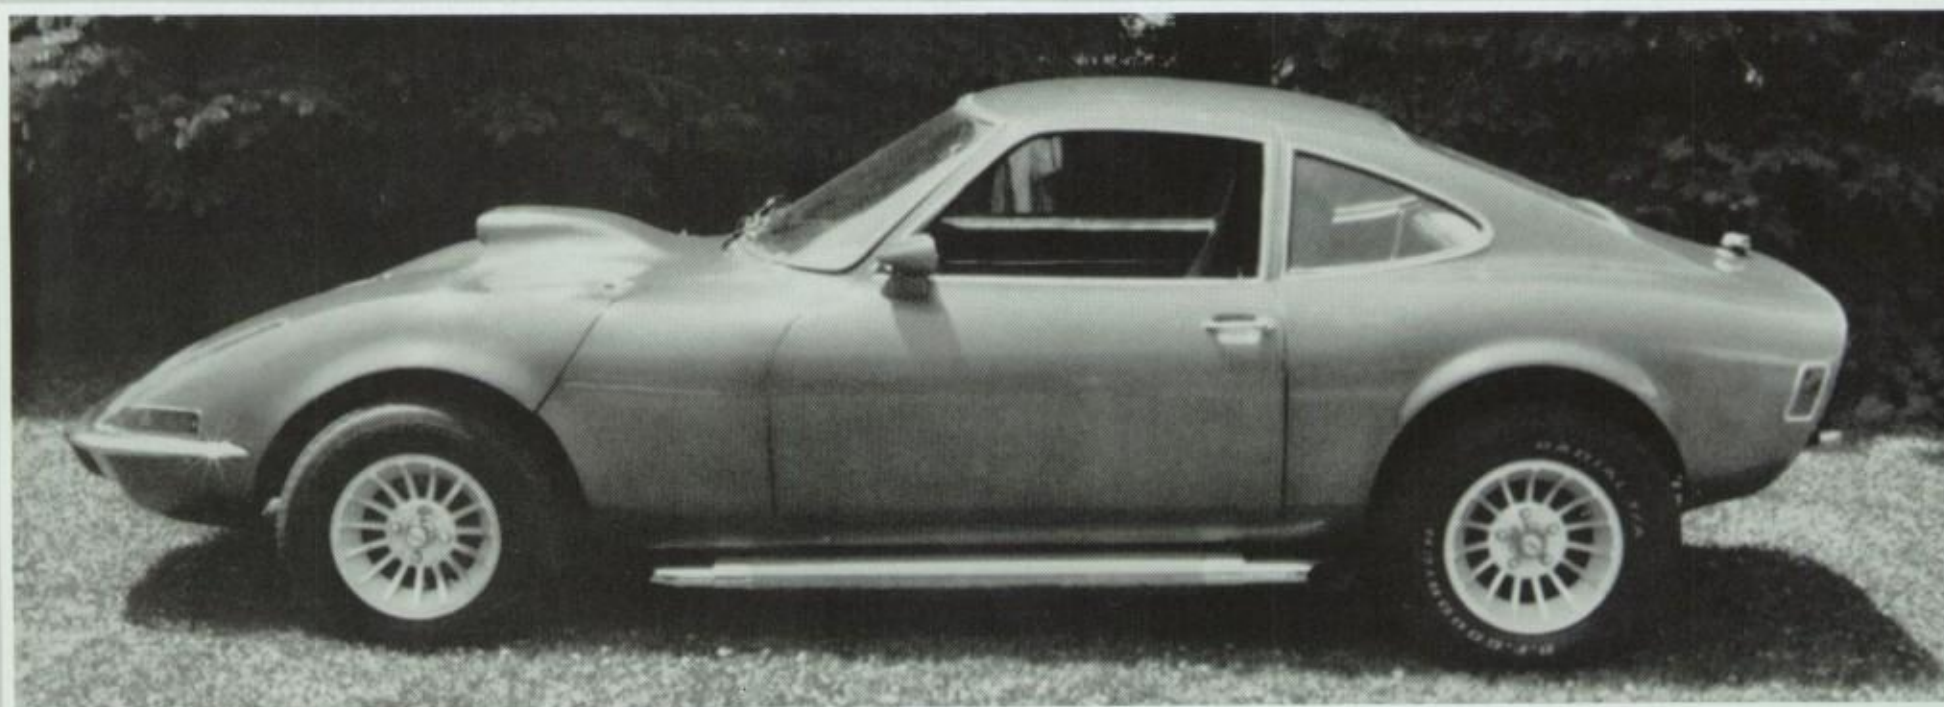

Classically Tech

The lovely and talented Mr. Pfeifer is known at Tech as the carpentry instructor. Building storage sheds, house sections, and complete model homes is a reflection of Mr. Pfeifer's training as a carpenter.

But, in his leisure hours, Mr. Pfeifer turns to his secret love—customizing cars.

Beginning with a complete motor overhaul and ending with a super paint job, Mr. Pfeifer's talents are certainly not limited to the field of carpentry.

"My only regret," says Mr. Pfeifer, "is not having Mr. McCallum design the backseat of this car."

A Study In Black And White

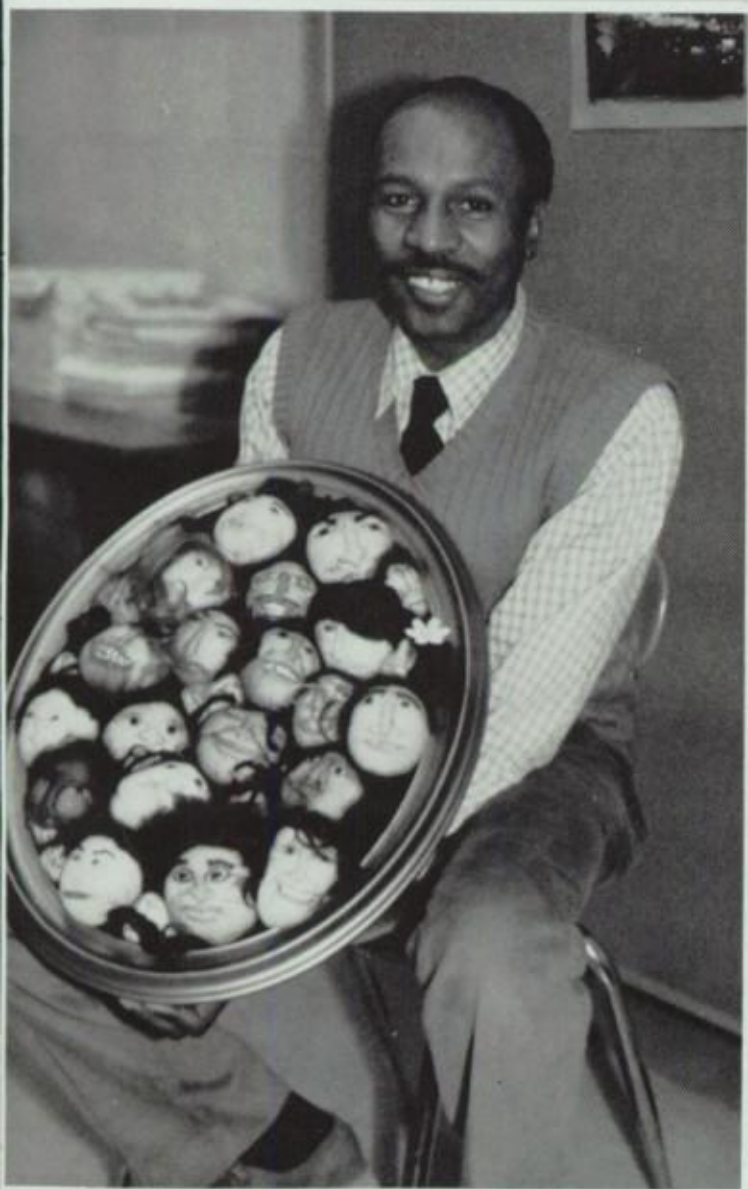

Chemistry teacher, Mr. Magno is also noted as the lovable, easy going attendance warden at Tech. But, Mr. Magno also extends his firm hand of judgement to the basketball court where he serves as referee for freshmen games.

During the basketball season Mr. Magno can be seen, and heard, in the old gym officiating at the games. So, stop in and visit — Mr. Magno is the one in the striped shirt.

Mr. Thomas McCallum is currently in charge of the Human Relations program at Tech. Participation in art exhibits of the Wisconsin - Designer Craftsman and the Inner City Arts Council have brought recognition to the popular Tech instructor whose primary training is in the field of art.

Mr. McCallum is pictured with a soft sculpture which he feels ... "is a very motivating form of expression."

"My biggest disappointment," complains Mr. McCallum, "is not being asked to do the back seat of Mr. Pfeifer's car."

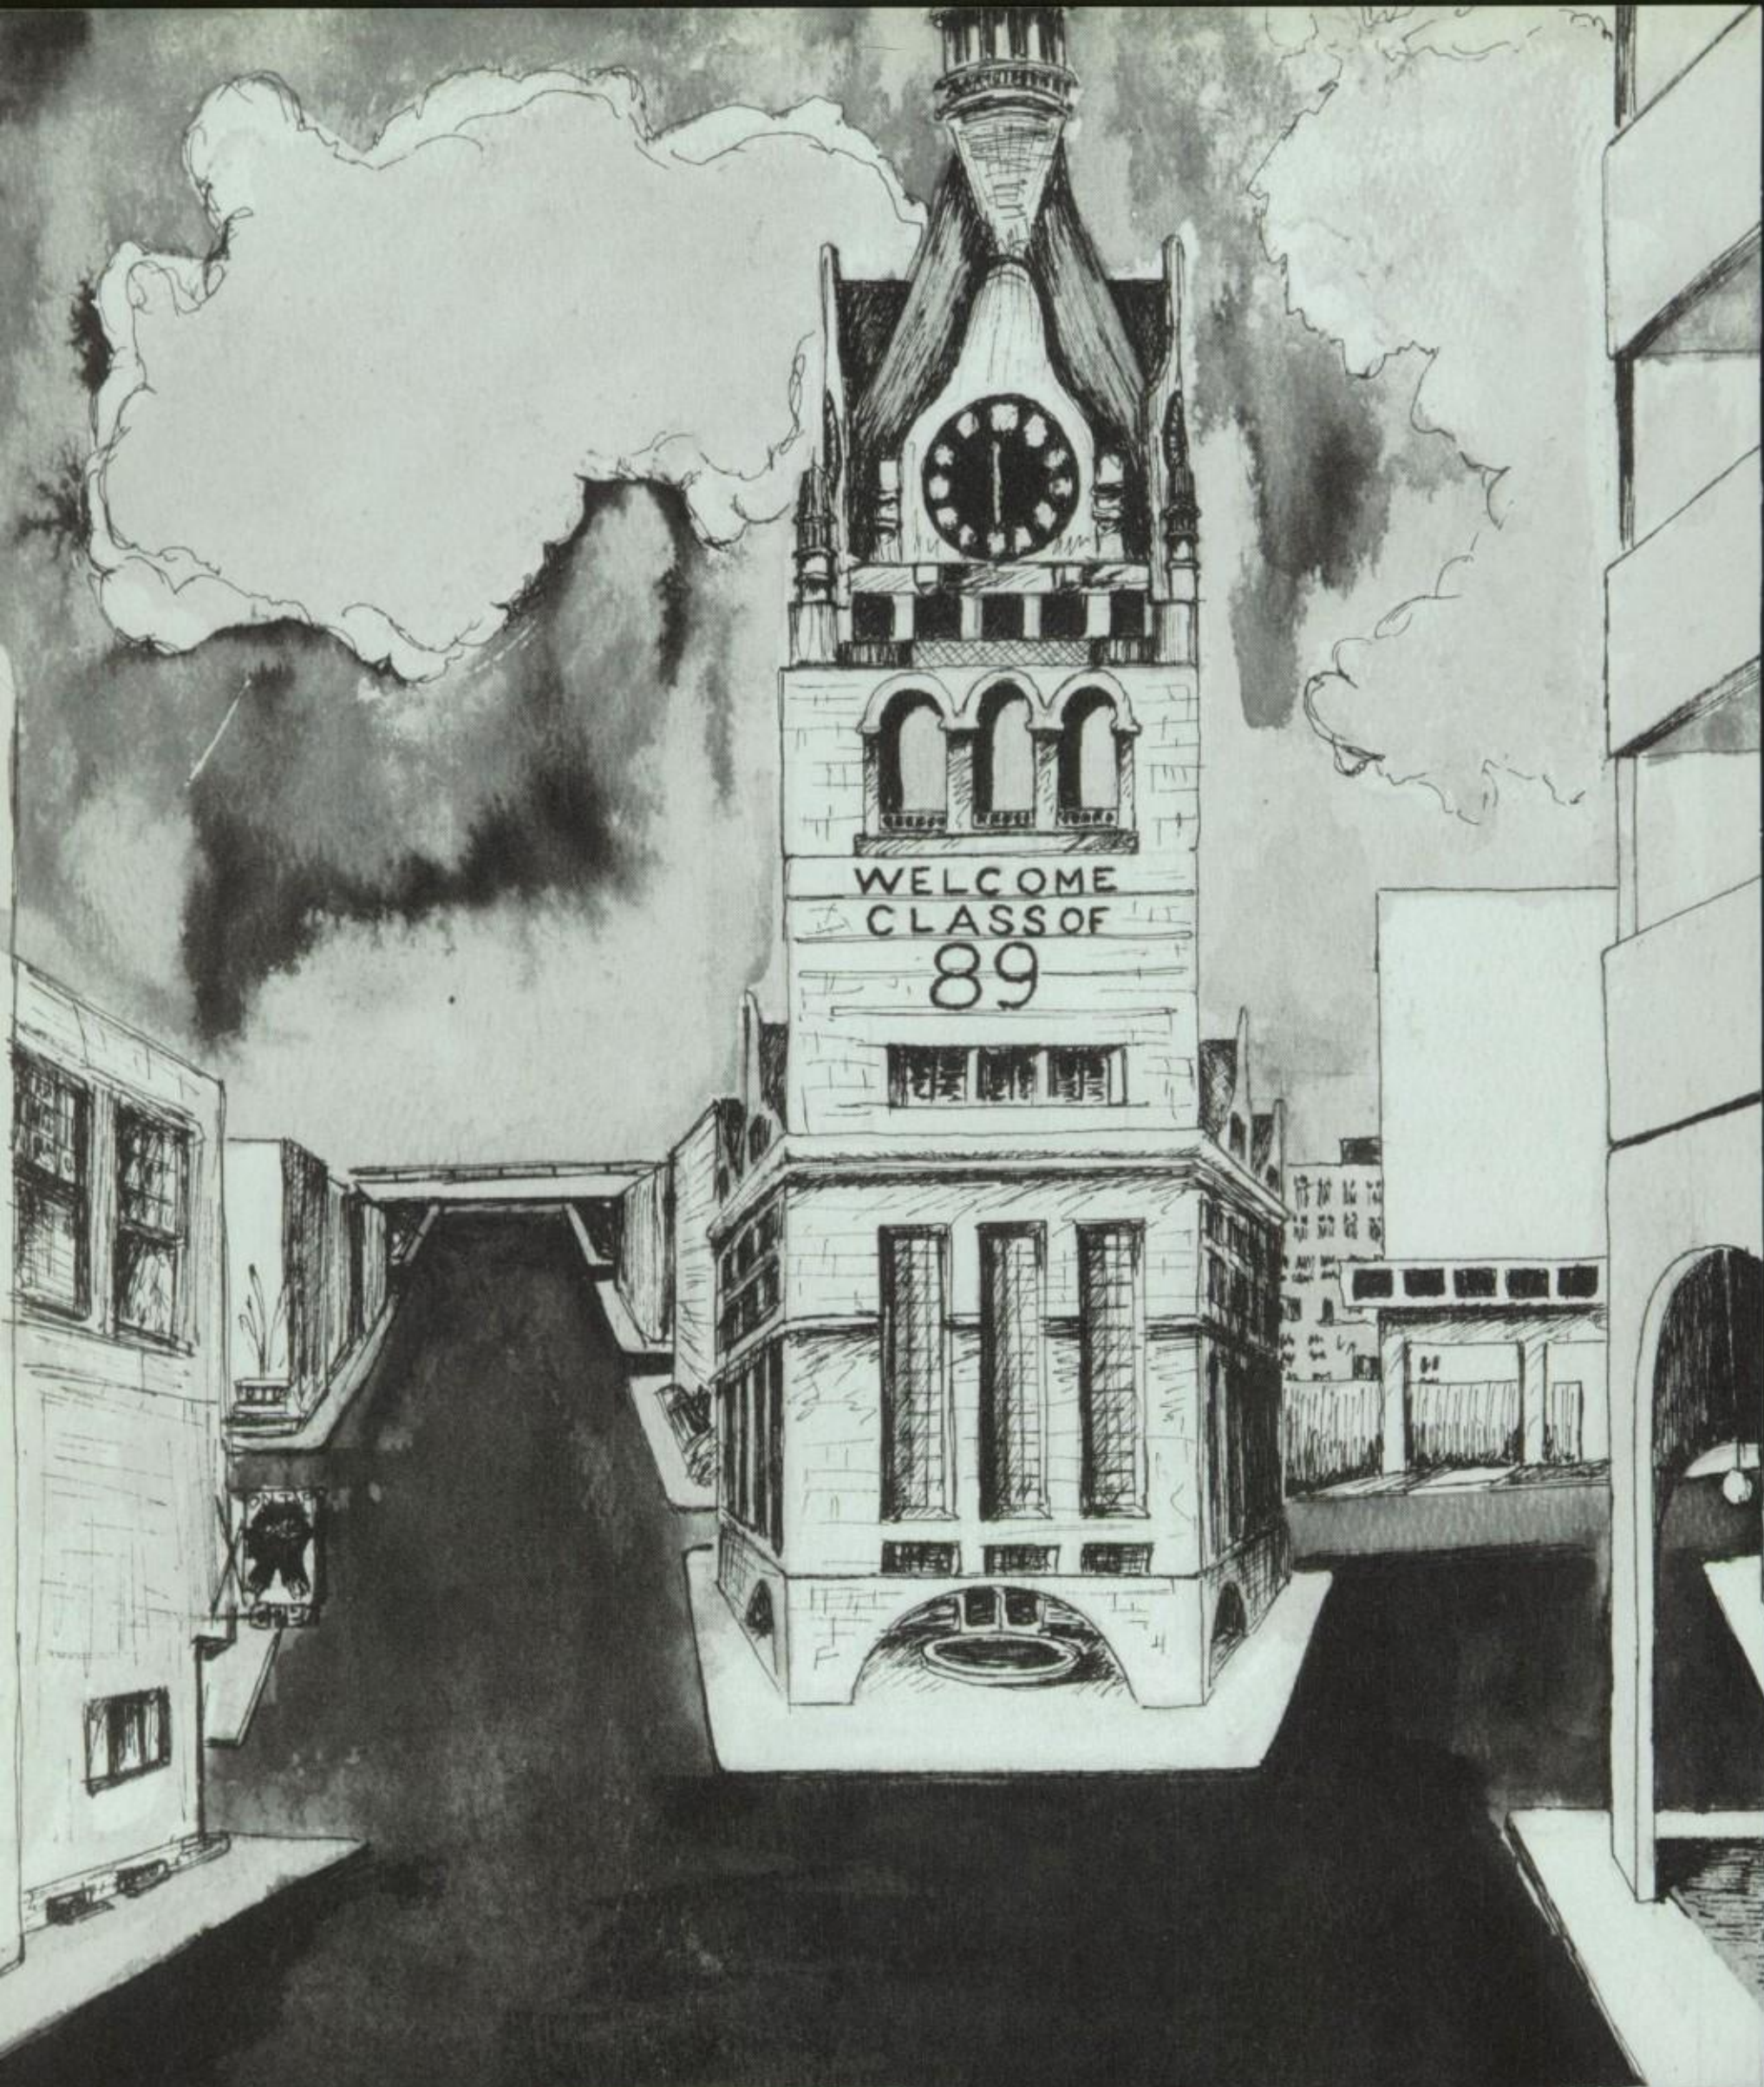

Halftime Special

This single seater was completely hand crafted by Mr. Tom Teschendorf of the Aero Shop. Powered by a V-W engine, the small, acrobatic plane is yet another example of the skills and interests of the Tech faculty.

History Quiz (50 pts each)

- 1) What color was the plane?
- 2) In what year did Mr. Teschendorf fly over South Stadium during the halftime of our homecoming game?

FRESHIE FEARS

That peculiar breed of humans known as Freshies has always found something to fear during the first weeks at Tech. Coming from a small grade school to one of the largest high schools in Milwaukee can be a challenge to anyone. And, when the change to high school is attempted against a background of wild rumors, exaggerations, stories blown out of proportion, good natured joking and fear of the unknown, even the strongest of that strange breed can be intimidated.

Seniors have been known to distort the facts and remind the Freshies how it was in the distant past when that senior first entered Tech. Small Freshies are warned to stay away from lockers, "lest you fall in - accidentally, of course." "Be wary of shaving cream or gross smelling perfumes." warns the Senior who smiles menacingly.

Sophomores, only recently released from Freshie bondage, are the loudest to try intimidation. Boasting of their battles with upperclass last year, the Sophomores delight in describing the alleged mistreatment they received.

But, Freshie fears, it seems, are founded more on exaggeration than fact. The Artisan staff interviewed many of the peculiar breed and discovered that Freshie fears are, indeed, genuine but based on non-traditional situations. Read on and discover the real Freshie fears.

DEBATE

1985 TECH TOURNAMENT

Each year, on a given Saturday, the classrooms, cafeteria, and auditorium of Tech are turned over to hundreds of debaters from all parts of Wisconsin who travel to Tech to compete in various divisions for coveted medals and trophies. The outstanding trophies are provided by Tech's industrial partner, Allen-Bradley. This year's awards were presented by Mrs. Lois Riley, the

Mr. Angeli, (bottom right) organizer of the tournament, said that the Tech Tournament is becoming so popular that late registering schools had to be turned away.

ARTISAN

I liked being on the Artisan staff because I was able to have some input into the yearbook.
Therese Pickl

Being on the Artisan staff was an interesting experience. We went through many long nail biting hours of being yelled at from our "Dear Mr. Pagel."
Sherry Weber

I thought it was a good experience. But. It was time consuming — a lot harder than I expected it to be a lot of responsibilities.
Kelly Laast

Junior Editor-Kristin Stika
Freshman Editor-Dina Thrascher
Student Life Editor-Brian Betchner
Organization Editors-Sharon Weber, Therese Pickl, Kelly Laast
Academic Editors-Nancy Repetti, Tracie Miller
Sports-Everyone
Artists-John Galioto, Mike Vogt, Pete Schassler, Andy Wenner, Sal Taormina

A special word about our artists. It was very difficult to generate ideas in the few minutes we had together early in the morning. The pressure of developing art work under the required time limits strained our relationships at times. Yet, in spite of all the problems, they came through with excellent work at the last minute. Special thanks to Sal Taormina for accepting more than his share of the responsibility and work load.

C. Pagel, Advisor

The Artisan was a fun and rewarding organization, as long as I stayed on Mr. Pagel's good side.

Being an Artisan editor for the underclassmen section really took a lot of time and hard work.

Dina Thrascher

Being on the staff for three years has really taught me the meaning of working with others. It was fun, it was hard work, exciting and frustrating. I especially want to thank Mr. Pagel for his help and inspiration.

Amy Richardson

Working under pressure as an artist, I learned the meaning of "deadline". It was difficult to develop artwork by a specified date. Yet, getting a chance to see my art published made it all worthwhile.

Sal Taormina

I really enjoyed contributing to the Artisan this year. I hope I can give much more to next year's book. It has been a pleasure working with Mr. Pagel (He's the greatest).

Walter Turner

Melinda Petzel

I now know what Mr. Pagel meant when he said, "The few, the proud, the Artisan staff."

Andrea K. Galioto

Working on the Artisan Staff helped me to realize what responsibility and working with other people is all about.

Melinda Petzel

Kris Stika, Mark Zube, Andrea Galioto

Andy Wenner

For being a "walk-on" artist on the Artisan Staff, I felt I was a real part of the team. It was hard work, but a lot of fun.

Mark Zube

I heard about the Tech Artisan from a friend. He said it was a great book, but even better than the book is its advisor, Mr. Pagel. So I traveled three days' journey to the east, following a bright star in the sky. Now that I have worked with this great humanitarian, and had the most joyous year of my life, I will take the first camel back to the West!"

Thanks, again to the Golf Team. I'm looking forward to next year.

Coach Jacobs

Heidi, our special daughter and sister, keep up the good work.

Love you.

Mom, Dad, Mary Dee and Eddie

Thanks Techites! We're still one of the best in attendance. Your pride makes us shine!

Mr. McCallum

My thanks to the debate and forensic teams, and to Mr. Towne for a winning season.

Mr. Angeli

To Mr. Pagel and Mr. Kostrivas — May you "see no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil" with future classes like you did with the class of '85. Sarcastically, your fellow informers.

Mark Z. and Andy G.

Congratulations to Terrence A. Jones for seeking higher ground and for being that special person to us all. Love,

Yvonne

Good luck to all the seniors to reach their "mathematical" goals.

Mu Alpha Theta

Dear Chris, We knew you could do it! Some things were easier than others; all were worthwhile to us, your parents. Like is a wonderful gift, cherish it as we cherish you.

Love,

Mom and Dad

Good going, reach for the stars, Geoff G!
Love, Mom and Dad

May all the members of the class of '85 succeed in the footsteps of those who preceeded them. Tech lives!
Ms. Lea Picciolo

Best wishes to Juls and the 1985 Soccer Team.

Dear Amy, All my hopes in you have come true. You turned out to be smart, pretty, and ambitious. Use these attributes wisely the rest of your life.

Coach Saranac

Thanks to the staff, faculty, and students for the help and cooperation extended to the Artisan staff in developng this yearbook.
C. Pagel

Valentine's day! Although named after a Roman, Tech's Trojans adopted this day as their own. And, as usual this year, the spirit of the senior class lead the way to another successful social event.

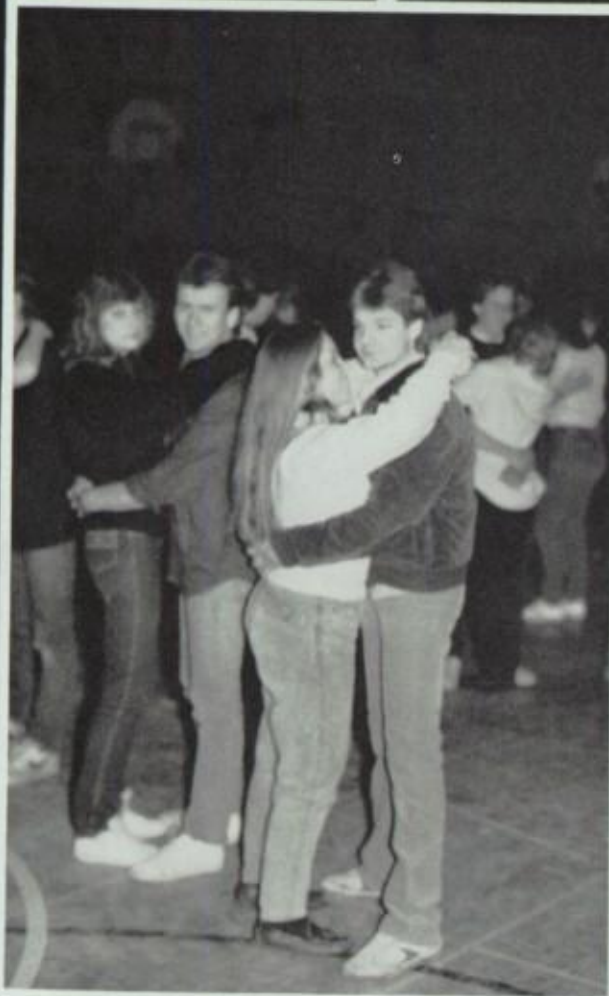

Festivities actually began on Thursday, as the colorful carnations, chocolate hearts, and stuffed toy animals were distributed throughout the day. In English classes, shop classes, even gym classes, monitors were busy delivering gifts to and from favorite valentines.

Friday, February 15th marked the high point of the week as the senior council presented the annual Sweetheart Dance. Live music, created by Tech's own band, Minx, attracted yet another large crowd to the gym.

And after the dance? You guessed it — on the town with your favorite sweetheart.
